East German Says West Pact Offers Civil War Threat

Held by Police

William Smith, 24, who police said was a former boxer, is shown as he was booked in Boston for illegal possession of a machine gun. Police, in a predawn raid on his home, seized weapons, ammunition and burglar tools. The raid was a follow-up to the capture of Harvey (The Butcher) Bistany, a gangster pal of Willie (The Actor) Sutton. (AP Wirephoo).

Grotewohl Informs Stalin Zone Will Arm to Meet Problem

Berlin, May 8 (AP)—East Germany's Communist government hurled new threats today to set up their own army — something the west says they already have —if West Germany lines up with western defense.

Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl telegraphed Soviet Prime Minister Stalin that West Germany's nearly-complete peace contract with the western allies threatens civil war and the Soviet zone will arm to meet it.

East German President Wilhelm Pieck said on May Day that western signing of the peace contract—expected before the end of May—would compel the east to raise a defense force. Last night leaders of the east zone's ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party wired Stalin such an army, necessary for defense "against aggression," would be raised.

Nucleus Army Claimed

The western allies have said for months, however, that East Germany already has a trained nucleus army in its 50,000-man state police and 10,000-man sea police unit.

The telegrams to the Soviet Union's prime minister were sent on the occasion of the anniversary today of the Soviet conquest of the Nazi armies. Grotewohl said: "By signing of the general treaty (by Adenauer with the west), conditions are to be created similar to Korea. A great danger of civil war between Germans arises. If Adenauer intends to sign a treaty without the people, without the Parliament and without the parties, then he shall know that the (East) German democratic republic will under no circumstances accede without resisting this putsch and its consequences."

Push Toward Completion

These latest Communist moves came as Adenauer's government and the west pushed ahead toward completion of the peace contract and companion plans for inclusion of German troops in the proposed six-nation European Army.

Some western allied circles here viewed the latest Red outcry as a last-ditch effort to split the ranks of the west Germans. Already Conservative factions in Adenauer's government coalition have voiced opposition to the peace contract, contending it retains too many occupation controls on the Germans and that it might be considered an admission that Germany is permanently split. Without the Conservative backing, Adenauer's dominant Christian Democrat Party would be unable to win majority ratification of the

Missionaries Face Mass Persecution By Reds in China

Foreign Missions Director Says Situation Is Extremely Perilous

New York, May 8 (AP)—The worst mass persecution of American missionaries in our history now is going on in Communist China, church leaders said today.

They gave this statistical picture:

32 American missionaries in prison.

25 under house arrest.

136 others restricted in their movements, prevented from leaving the country, and subjected to criminal accusations and attacks.

"Their situation has become extremely grave," said Dr. Wallace C. Merwin, head of the China committee of the foreign missions division of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Never in History

Both Roman Catholic and Protestant leaders said that never in any land has there been such widespread, official persecution of American missionaries since the first ones went out nearly 150 years ago.

It has smashed one of the most extensively supported mission fields of American churches, which five years ago had 2,986 missionaries in China—2,536 Protestants and 450 Catholics.

All of them—153 Catholics and 40 Protestants—are reported under various kinds of restrictions, charges and punishment.

Church spokesmen said the state department, presumably through nations that have relations with Red China, is seeking to intervene in behalf of the missionaries. But no details of the efforts were given.

Churches Untalkative

Until this month, the churches have been guardedly untalkative about the overall status of the China missionaries, for fear of causing added reprisals against them.

"Hate is being whipped up against them by mob psychology in a way that is extremely dangerous and uncontrollable," Merwin said.

Father Fred Maguire, of the Catholic Mission Secretariate in Washington, D. C., said "there never was a time when American missionaries in such great numbers have faced such circumstances."

A China missionary for 18 years himself, Father Maguire said the "elimination of all Americans and all foreign missions" from China is likely in "a very short time."

"That certainly is their objective," he said.

In first disclosing the numbers of missionaries held, the National Council's China committee said recently it decided "only after careful consideration" to "break the silence we have maintained so long."

The committee said it acted in hopes that public knowledge of "this unprecedented situation" involving Americans "might help to speed their return home."

Some Quarters See Little Change as Controls Suspend

Washington, May 8 (AP) — For the first time in 20 months, the government has given you free rein to buy that car, television set, or furniture on whatever terms you can get.

The Federal Reserve Board yesterday suspended controls over down payments and time-to-pay —on grounds that an easing of inflationary pressures made the controls no longer necessary.

There was varied reaction today as business men and officials tried to size up the case, now that dealers and finance companies may impose their own terms.

Authorities on the Reserve Board said actually they expect the effects to be slight.

HST Says World Situation Grave

Washington, May 8 (AP) — President Truman, reflecting on world conditions on his 68th birthday, said today the international situation still is very grave and some people here at home don't seem to realize it.

The President, in an often philosophical mood, ranged over the general situation in a news conference discussion.

Despite the difficulties he saw, he said as he often has before that he is still hopeful of ultimate peace.

Supervisors Order TB Hospital Gifts Go in Special Fund

Ulster Board Renames Boice to County Civil Service for 6 Years

The Ulster county board of supervisors Wednesday evening took steps to provide that memorial gifts to the Tuberculosis Hospital be placed in a special fund to be used for purchase of suitable furnishings and prevent such contributions being mingled with the general funds. A resolution was adopted authorizing the establishing of such special fund for receipt of $500 given to the hospital from the estate of Anna D. Bock in memory of John Bock and in future all such memorial gifts will be placed in the special memorial fund account.

Boice Is Renamed

Commissioner Pratt Boice of Lake Katrine was renamed to the Ulster County Civil Service Board for a term of six years beginning June 1, 1952.

Much of the session Wednesday evening was taken up in routine business, including the transfer of moneys from one fund to another in various departments. This is necessary under the county treasurer's accounting system whereby when a balance exists in one fund and there is a deficit in another, it becomes necessary for the board to authorize a transfer of money within a department if it is to be expended under another line item.

Several such transfers were made in highway, health and sheriff's funds.

Consent was granted the Department of Social Welfare, Child Guidance, for use of three rooms in the Tumor Clinic building three Mondays of each month.

The county treasurer was authorized to raise the limit of deposit of county funds from $300,000 to $750,000 in the Kingston Trust Company and State of New York National Bank. This became necessary because of temporary deposits which must be made daily under the county accounting system. At times the deposits in the two banks will temporarily exceed the authorized $300,000.

Woodstock Gets Funds

A resolution was also adopted authorizing the deposit of county funds in the Woodstock branch of the Bank of Orange County, not to exceed $150,000.

On recommendation of County Attorney Fred Stang, the board authorized settlement of a claim made by George Reeve for damages in the amount of $58 which he sustained on Route 28 near Woodland Valley.

An invitation was extended the Board of Supervisors by the Kingston Veterans Association to participate in the Memorial Day parade along with other city and county officials.

A matter of straightening out a legal tangle on a mortgage on property of Lucy Rizzera of town of Esopus was referred to the county attorney on request from the New York State Department of Law. Taxes are due on a parcel of land on which a mortgage is in effect. The state desires to know which parcel the mortgage is against so that taxes in the sum of $432.50 may be paid.

The board authorized the purchase of a tandem roller for the county highway department in place of a hoist which had previously been approved. The nec-

Pro-Eisenhower Delegates Named by State Committee

New York, May 8 (AP)—Six pro-Eisenhower delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention were elected by the New York state GOP state committee yesterday.

They and 90 district delegates chosen at the April 22 primary will make up New York state's powerful 96-vote convention delegation.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has said that all but one of the district delegates will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination. One announced backer of Sen. Robert A. Taft was elected at the primary.

Supporters of Taft claim he will get at least 17 of New York's votes. Under state law, the delegates are unpledged.

State Chairman William L. Pfeiffer said six alternate delegates-at-large elected yesterday also are in the Eisenhower camp.

Other delegates-at-large are Sen. Irving M. Ives; Pfeiffer, who was reelected yesterday as chairman; J. Russel Sprague, GOP leader of Nassau county and a national committeeman; Mrs. Jessica McCullough Weis, of Rochester; and Miss Jane Todd, of Tarrytown, GOP state committee vice-chairman.

The alternate delegates-at-large are:

Reds Accuse UN of Delay; Korean Prospects Viewed

President Is Opposed To 'Buying'

Truman Says Nation Will Not Turn Over Prisoners for Killing as Peace Price

May Ask Russia

Negotiations With Reds' Leaders Might Follow as Maneuver

Washington, May 8 (AP)—An uncompromising announcement by President Truman that "this is our position" left the Asiatic Communists today with the choice of accepting what is apparently the final allied armistice offer or continuing a war that has cost them much and gained them little.

While the Communists mulled over the declaration that the United Nations' three-point proposal must be accepted in entirety, military and diplomatic officials here weighed the alternatives to be used if the offer is spurned.

If the Chinese and Korean Reds turn down the one-package proposal, including the point that there be no forced return of prisoners who don't want to go back, the prospects for continued war seemed uppermost. The shape this war could take—more prolonged stalemate on the existing battleline, a blockade of Red China's ports, attacks on the China coast—figured in several alternatives considered by the United States and its allies.

Remains Possibility

The chance of a diplomatic effort outside Korea to settle the dispute remained at least a possibility. Deputy Defense Secretary William C. Foster was asked by reporters yesterday if direct negotiations with Russia, master Communist nation, had been considered. Foster replied that "every alternative has been considered," including that one.

The single package proposal submitted by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's negotiators at Panmunjom and supported by the UN allies contains these three points:

1. "That there shall be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war—as the Communists have insisted" (the President's summary of the point). A poll has shown that 100,000 of the 173,000 prisoners would oppose return to Communists hands. This was a bitter blow to Communist prestige.

2. The United Nations will not insist on prohibiting reconstruc-

Named in Gross Testimony

Bookie king Harry Gross testified at a New York departmental trial of five patrolmen allegedly mixed up in Gross' protection payoffs. He said he paid William P. O'Brien (left) police inspector and later commissioner protection payments to operate horse betting rooms; he was shaken down for $20,000 by James J. Moran (center), top officeholder in former Mayor O'Dwyer's administration for two O'Dwyer campaigns; he changed $135,000 in big bills into smaller denominations for Police Lt. George McGir (right), O'Brien's right hand man for years. Moran and Gross are serving prison terms while O'Brien and McGir have retired from police force.

Gross Puts Finger On William Whalen

Also Says He Bought Two Suits for Boss of Inspectors

New York, May 8 (AP)—Boss bookie Gross, who has involved former top city officials in his multi-million dollar bookmaking business, testified today that William Whalen, former chief of detectives of the New York police department had been on his payroll.

Gross said Whalen went on his payroll right after he became an inspector, at which time Gross gave him a dinner and an expensive watch.

All Five Men File

All five of the men on trial have filed for retirement this month and unless the case is completed before the effective date of their retirement they cannot be punished by the police department.

They face loss of pension rights in this trial.

Valuable Exhibit of Art To Be Seen in City for Month

Mrs. Chadbourne Has Arranged for Noted Paintings to Be Loaned

One of the biggest and most valuable art collections ever assembled in the Hudson valley will become a featured part of Kingston's 300th Anniversary Celebration.

The exhibit, which will be held in the new George Washington School, Wall street, from July 16 through August 17, has been gathered personally through the tireless efforts of Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, of Stone Ridge, internationally known collector and art patron.

Mrs. Chadbourne, who is president of the Senate House Association, gathered the paintings to be shown from the following persons: Maxim Karolik, renowned collector, of Boston; Robert C. Vose, Jr., of Boston, a leading authority on American art; and Robert G. Wheeler, director of the Albany Institute of History and Art.

Further information about the works of art to be shown was not available today.

One of the spokesmen for the exhibit said today, "Kingston will be enriched temporarily by an exhibition which all should visit. This assemblage of pictures will illustrate the wide diversity of American art; the creative work of anonymous painters, the well-known professional and amateurs, who have contributed to the cultural development of the United States."

Throughout the exhibit a nominal admission charge will be made, with a slight increase on opening day.

Crossing to Open May 29th; Thruway To Reach Route 28

Gravel Is Being Trucked for Use in Concrete Work—Other Jobs to Be Done

J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works, announced today that department plans are moving toward the opening of the Broadway underpass on May 29, and the extension of the New York State Thruway from the Sawkill area to Route 28 during the summer.

"May 29 is the date we are shooting at for opening the underpass," Bixby said.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Lipsett Inc., contractor on the crossing project, said that gravel was being trucked to the site for the paving of the remaining 180 feet of Broadway under the bridges, "and we hope to be ready to start paving some time next week."

Fire at Dump Is Fought by Crews

A fire on the Sterling street dump which started yesterday afternoon was still in progress today.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today it was the most serious blaze on the dump in more than a year and two engines pumped water as streams were played on the fire for seven hours yesterday.

The first equipment and men called out from central station and Wicks Engine Company worked until 11 p. m., and the chief said some men were kept at the scene through the night. Men were still there today manning three lines to wet down the stubborn fire.

While they were at work on the fire last night, the chief said, the

POW Issue Stalemates Armistice

General Nam Il Declares UN Screening Has Absurd Features; Will Meet Friday

Suspension Asked

Joy Proposal Brings Quick Request for New Meeting

Munsan, Korea, May 8 (AP)—The Communists today accused the United Nations command of delaying a truce in Korea by refusing to negotiate further on prisoner exchange.

The prisoner issue is the only one in the path of an armistice in the nearly two-year-old war.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il's verbal blast failed to shake the allied delegates from their no retreat stand against forced return of prisoners to Red rule.

The allies have told the Reds that 62,000 captured Red soldiers do not want to be repatriated.

"Your so-called screening of our captured personnel is absurd," Nam declared in the 18-minute session at Panmunjom.

Nam spoke for 17 minutes. Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. command delegate, called Nam's speech a "propaganda tirade that can serve no useful purpose."

Delegates Will Meet

At Nam's request, truce delegates will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday, EST).

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and Gen. Mark W. Clark, who will replace Ridgway as supreme United Nations commander, arrived in Korea. They were met by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who succeeded Ridgway a year ago as commander of UN ground forces in Korea.

The visit followed by only one day Ridgway's warning that the allies will make no further concessions to the Reds to end the war.

In Washington President Truman said the United States will not buy an armistice "by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

Proposes Suspension

For the second straight day, Joy proposed an indefinite suspension of negotiations until the Communists are ready to talk business. But the Reds quickly called for a Friday meeting.

The UN command is willing to return 70,000 of the 169,000 prisoners of war and civilians it says are willing to return to Communist territory. The Reds demand return of 132,000 captured Chinese and North Korean troops.

Nam again "categorically rejected" the allied proposal. He turned down a suggestion that the Reds, after an armistice, themselves interview the prisoners who have said they would forcibly resist return to communism.

"If you have any interest of reaching an armistice, you must withdraw your unreasonable proposal for repatriation of prisoners of war," he said.

After the full dress armistice plenary session had ended, a Communist liaison officer told the allies United Nations planes on Sunday and Monday nights attacked a prisoner of war camp at Changsong on the Yalu river, boundary between Korea and Manchuria. The Reds did not make a formal protest or demand any action.

The Satellites-IV

Communist bosses ride high in Romania, but they never know what is just around the corner. Here, as in the other nations captive to Stalin, the leaders fear two things—the people and the Kremlin. Romania bars U. S. reporters, but many of the things that go on there can be learned by piecing together and checking the stories of travelers, exiles and diplomats. William L. Ryan tapped sources in Europe and the United States to write this article, the fourth of his series on the satellites.

Sirens shrill, traffic and pedestrians scatter.

A sleek green American car screeches to a halt opposite the State Bank building on Bucharest's Kisselev street. Three sentinels snap to military attention.

Escort cars, crammed with bodyguards, pull up behind the green 1950 Oldsmobile as a guard opens the door.

Grim and unsmiling, the hammer-jawed first lady of Romanian communism steps out and walks rapidly into the building. Through a battalion of security militia and police agents. She does not even notice the stiff salute of her personal security chief.

Ana Seems Worried

Ana Pauker, for all her new riches—her four cars, her lavish villa, her legion of personal bodyguards and attendants — seems worried. Nominally, the foreign minister, she has just managed to get rid of a few high Communists who may have been her mortal enemies in high places—but how many more are there? How much longer will she last in the place of power she has held since the Russians obligingly evicted the monarchy?

The Russians have been watching her. Even the defense minister, Gen. Emil Bodnares, a Ukrainian whom she has considered her ally—how long would he remain her friend if she should lose the confidence of Moscow? And there are rumors. . .

It was a close squeeze with Vasile Luca. The finance minister had a thirst for power. Even Bodnares had feared him. For Ana it was fortunate Luca's recent currency reform caused so much chaos in the country. It gave her a lever. She and Bodnares had him fired as finance minister and vice premier. They put in a less ambitous man, Dimitrue Petrescu, former president of the State Supply Commission. Petrescu, coming from the management division of the Workers (Communist) party, is himself manageable.

Took Some Doing

Luca, at 54, had felt he was going places. A leading Communist since 1919, veteran of many jails, he had been a confidante of Gheorghe Gheorghiu-dej, the present boss of the party. It took some doing to get rid of him.

Luca had been secretary-general of the National Democratic Front in 1944, and had a big part in forcing the government's anti-Communist majority to bow to Soviet military demands. That was even before Soviet Moscow's Andrei Y. Vishinsky stormed and raged at young King Mihai and forced him from the throne.

Luca soon became secretary of the Central Committee and showed

U.S. Fifth Air Force Declares Biggest Attack of Korea War

Seoul, Korea, May 8 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said it made its biggest single attack of the Korean war today on the Red supply complex at Suan.

A day-long attack left the prize target covered with "billowing flames and smoke," the air force said.

The assault on the town, 35 miles southeast of the Red capital, Pyongyang, began at dawn and lasted until nightfall. Both jets and propeller driven planes were hurled into the attack.

Two Red jets were reported shot down and a third damaged as they ventured far from their Manchurian bases apparently in an effort to break up the raid.

The Fifth Air Force said more sorties were flown against Suan today than the 312 that hit Sinuiju on the Manchurian border a year ago this month in the war's previous biggest single raid.

The air force reported Allied planes destroyed 97 supply buildings in the great supply complex, damaged 50 and knocked out 18 supply revetments and 16 vehicles.

American Sabre jets and Australian Meteors screening the attack fought two mid-afternoon air battles with flights of MIG-15s. Each fight was about 40 miles from Suan and more than

Two Drown From Push By Mental Case Brother

New York, May 8 (AP)—Two brothers drowned yesterday when a mentally retarded third brother pushed one of them off a New York Bay pier in Brooklyn, police said.

One brother died in attempting to rescue the pushed man, said police, who gave this account:

Frank Fiore, 29, and Patrick Fiore, 22 drowned after they had gone fishing on the pier with their brothers, Anthony, 19, and Joseph, Jr., 12, who is menfally retarded.

Joseph pushed Patrick into the water. Frank, recently discharged from the army, jumped in after Patrick. Both brothers disappeared.

Police grapplers recovered the bodies. No police action was taken against Joseph.

A matter of straightening out a legal tangle on a mortgage on property of Lucy Rizzera of town of Esopus was referred to the county attorney on request from the New York State Department of Law. Taxes are due on a parcel of land on which a mortgage is in effect. The state desires to know which parcel the mortgage is against so that taxes in the sum of $432.50 may be paid.

The board authorized the purchase of a tandem roller for the county highway department in place of a hoist which had previously been approved. The nec-

Pro-Eisenhower Delegates Named by State Committee

New York, May 8 (AP)—Six pro-Eisenhower delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention were elected by the New York state GOP state committee yesterday.

They and 90 district delegates chosen at the April 22 primary will make up New York state's powerful 96-vote convention delegation.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has said that all but one of the district delegates will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination. One announced backer of Sen. Robert A. Taft was elected at the primary.

Supporters of Taft claim he will get at least 17 of New York's votes. Under state law, the delegates are unpledged.

State Chairman William L. Pfeiffer said six alternate delegates-at-large elected yesterday also are in the Eisenhower camp.

Other delegates-at-large are Sen. Irving M. Ives; Pfeiffer, who was reelected yesterday as chairman; J. Russel Sprague, GOP leader of Nassau county and a national committeeman; Mrs. Jessica McCullough Weis, of Rochester; and Miss Jane Todd, of Tarrytown, GOP state committee vice-chairman.

The alternate delegates-at-large are:

May Ask Russia

Negotiations With Reds' Leaders Might Follow as Maneuver

Washington, May 8 (AP)—An uncompromising announcement by President Truman that "this is our position" left the Asiatic Communists today with the choice of accepting what is apparently the final allied armistice offer or continuing a war that has cost them much and gained them little.

While the Communists mulled over the declaration that the United Nations' three-point proposal must be accepted in entirety, military and diplomatic officials here weighed the alternatives to be used if the offer is spurned.

If the Chinese and Korean Reds turn down the one-package proposal, including the point that there be no forced return of prisoners who don't want to go back, the prospects for continued war seemed uppermost. The shape this war could take—more prolonged stalemate on the existing battleline, a blockade of Red China's ports, attacks on the China coast—figured in several alternatives considered by the United States and its allies.

Remains Possibility

The chance of a diplomatic effort outside Korea to settle the dispute remained at least a possibility. Deputy Defense Secretary William C. Foster was asked by reporters yesterday if direct negotiations with Russia, master Communist nation, had been considered. Foster replied that "every alternative has been considered," including that one.

The single package proposal submitted by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's negotiators at Panmunjom and supported by the UN allies contains these three points:

1. "That there shall be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war—as the Communists have insisted" (the President's summary of the point). A poll has shown that 100,000 of the 173,000 prisoners would oppose return to Communists hands. This was a bitter blow to Communist prestige.

2. The United Nations will not insist on prohibiting reconstruc-

Named in Gross Testimony

Bookie king Harry Gross testified at a New York departmental trial of five patrolmen allegedly mixed up in Gross' protection payoffs. He said he paid William P. O'Brien (left) police inspector and later commissioner protection payments to operate horse betting rooms; he was shaken down for $20,000 by James J. Moran (center), top officeholder in former Mayor O'Dwyer's administration for two O'Dwyer campaigns; he changed $135,000 in big bills into smaller denominations for Police Lt. George McGir (right), O'Brien's right hand man for years. Moran and Gross are serving prison terms while O'Brien and McGir have retired from police force.

Gross Puts Finger On William Whalen

Also Says He Bought Two Suits for Boss of Inspectors

New York, May 8 (AP)—Boss bookie Gross, who has involved former top city officials in his multi-million dollar bookmaking business, testified today that William Whalen, former chief of detectives of the New York police department had been on his payroll.

Gross said Whalen went on his payroll right after he became an inspector, at which time Gross gave him a dinner and an expensive watch.

All Five Men File

All five of the men on trial have filed for retirement this month and unless the case is completed before the effective date of their retirement they cannot be punished by the police department.

They face loss of pension rights in this trial.

Valuable Exhibit of Art To Be Seen in City for Month

Mrs. Chadbourne Has Arranged for Noted Paintings to Be Loaned

One of the biggest and most valuable art collections ever assembled in the Hudson valley will become a featured part of Kingston's 300th Anniversary Celebration.

The exhibit, which will be held in the new George Washington School, Wall street, from July 16 through August 17, has been gathered personally through the tireless efforts of Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, of Stone Ridge, internationally known collector and art patron.

Mrs. Chadbourne, who is president of the Senate House Association, gathered the paintings to be shown from the following persons: Maxim Karolik, renowned collector, of Boston; Robert C. Vose, Jr., of Boston, a leading authority on American art; and Robert G. Wheeler, director of the Albany Institute of History and Art.

Further information about the works of art to be shown was not available today.

One of the spokesmen for the exhibit said today, "Kingston will be enriched temporarily by an exhibition which all should visit. This assemblage of pictures will illustrate the wide diversity of American art; the creative work of anonymous painters, the well-known professional and amateurs, who have contributed to the cultural development of the United States."

Throughout the exhibit a nominal admission charge will be made, with a slight increase on opening day.

Crossing to Open May 29th; Thruway To Reach Route 28

Gravel Is Being Trucked for Use in Concrete Work—Other Jobs to Be Done

J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works, announced today that department plans are moving toward the opening of the Broadway underpass on May 29, and the extension of the New York State Thruway from the Sawkill area to Route 28 during the summer.

"May 29 is the date we are shooting at for opening the underpass," Bixby said.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Lipsett Inc., contractor on the crossing project, said that gravel was being trucked to the site for the paving of the remaining 180 feet of Broadway under the bridges, "and we hope to be ready to start paving some time next week."

Fire at Dump Is Fought by Crews

A fire on the Sterling street dump which started yesterday afternoon was still in progress today.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today it was the most serious blaze on the dump in more than a year and two engines pumped water as streams were played on the fire for seven hours yesterday.

The first equipment and men called out from central station and Wicks Engine Company worked until 11 p. m., and the chief said some men were kept at the scene through the night. Men were still there today manning three lines to wet down the stubborn fire.

While they were at work on the fire last night, the chief said, the

POW Issue Stalemates Armistice

General Nam Il Declares UN Screening Has Absurd Features; Will Meet Friday

Suspension Asked

Joy Proposal Brings Quick Request for New Meeting

Munsan, Korea, May 8 (AP)—The Communists today accused the United Nations command of delaying a truce in Korea by refusing to negotiate further on prisoner exchange.

The prisoner issue is the only one in the path of an armistice in the nearly two-year-old war.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il's verbal blast failed to shake the allied delegates from their no retreat stand against forced return of prisoners to Red rule.

The allies have told the Reds that 62,000 captured Red soldiers do not want to be repatriated.

"Your so-called screening of our captured personnel is absurd," Nam declared in the 18-minute session at Panmunjom.

Nam spoke for 17 minutes. Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. command delegate, called Nam's speech a "propaganda tirade that can serve no useful purpose."

Delegates Will Meet

At Nam's request, truce delegates will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday EST).

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and Gen. Mark W. Clark, who will replace Ridgway as supreme United Nations commander, arrived in Korea. They were met by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who succeeded Ridgway a year ago as commander of UN ground forces in Korea.

The visit followed by only one day Ridgway's warning that the allies will make no further concessions to the Reds to end the war.

In Washington President Truman said the United States will not buy an armistice "by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

Proposes Suspension

For the second straight day, Joy proposed an indefinite suspension of negotiations until the Communists are ready to talk business. But the Reds quickly called for a Friday meeting.

The UN command is willing to return 70,000 of the 169,000 prisoners of war and civilians it says are willing to return to Communist territory. The Reds demand return of 132,000 captured Chinese and North Korean troops.

Nam again "categorically rejected" the allied proposal. He turned down a suggestion that the Reds, after an armistice, themselves interview the prisoners who have said they would forcibly resist return to communism.

"If you have any interest of reaching an armistice, you must withdraw your unreasonable proposal for repatriation of prisoners of war," he said.

After the full dress armistice plenary session had ended, a Communist liaison officer told the allies United Nations planes on Sunday and Monday nights attacked a prisoner of war camp at Changsong on the Yalu river, boundary between Korea and Manchuria. The Reds did not make a formal protest or demand any action.

The Satellites-IV

Communist bosses ride high in Romania, but they never know what is just around the corner. Here, as in the other nations captive to Stalin, the leaders fear two things—the people and the Kremlin. Romania bars U. S. reporters, but many of the things that go on there can be learned by piecing together and checking the stories of travelers, exiles and diplomats. William L. Ryan tapped sources in Europe and the United States to write this article, the fourth of his series on the satellites.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Sirens shrill, traffic and pedestrians scatter.

A sleek green American car screeches to a halt opposite the State Bank building on Bucharest's Kisselev street. Three sentinels snap to military attention.

Escort cars, crammed with bodyguards, pull up behind the green 1950 Oldsmobile as a guard opens the door.

Grim and unsmiling, the hammer-jawed first lady of Romanian communism steps out and walks rapidly into the building. Through a battalion of security militia and police agents. She does not even notice the stiff salute of her personal security chief.

Ana Seems Worried

Ana Pauker, for all her new riches—her four cars, her lavish villa, her legion of personal bodyguards and attendants — seems worried. Nominally, the foreign minister, she has just managed to get rid of a few high Communists who may have been her mortal enemies in high places—but how many more are there? How much longer will she last in the place of power she has held since the Russians obligingly evicted the monarchy?

The Russians have been watching her. Even the defense minister, Gen. Emil Bodnares, a Ukrainian whom she has considered her ally—how long would he remain her friend if she should lose the confidence of Moscow? And there are rumors. . .

It was a close squeeze with Vasile Luca. The finance minister had a thirst for power. Even Bodnares had feared him. For Ana it was fortunate Luca's recent currency reform caused so much chaos in the country. It gave her a lever. She and Bodnares had him fired as finance minister and vice premier. They put in a less ambitous man, Dimitrue Petrescu, former president of the State Supply Commission. Petrescu, coming from the management division of the Workers (Communist) party, is himself manageable.

Took Some Doing

Luca, at 54, had felt he was going places. A leading Communist since 1919, veteran of many jails, he had been a confidante of Gheorghe Gheorghiu-dej, the present boss of the party. It took some doing to get rid of him.

Luca had been secretary-general of the National Democratic Front in 1944, and had a big part in forcing the government's anti-Communist majority to bow to Soviet military demands. That was even before Soviet Moscow's Andrei Y. Vishinsky stormed and raged at young King Mihai and forced him from the throne.

Luca soon became secretary of the Central Committee and showed

U.S. Fifth Air Force Declares Biggest Attack of Korea War

Seoul, Korea, May 8 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said it made its biggest single attack of the Korean war today on the Red supply complex at Suan.

A day-long attack left the prize target covered with "billowing flames and smoke," the air force said.

The assault on the town, 35 miles southeast of the Red capital, Pyongyang, began at dawn and lasted until nightfall. Both jets and propeller driven planes were hurled into the attack.

Two Red jets were reported shot down and a third damaged as they ventured far from their Manchurian bases apparently in an effort to break up the raid.

The Fifth Air Force said more sorties were flown against Suan today than the 312 that hit Sinuiju on the Manchurian border a year ago this month in the war's previous biggest single raid.

The air force reported Allied planes destroyed 97 supply buildings in the great supply complex, damaged 50 and knocked out 18 supply revetments and 16 vehicles.

American Sabre jets and Australian Meteors screening the attack fought two mid-afternoon air battles with flights of MIG-15s. Each fight was about 40 miles from Suan and more than

Two Drown From Push By Mental Case Brother

New York, May 8 (AP)—Two brothers drowned yesterday when a mentally retarded third brother pushed one of them off a New York Bay pier in Brooklyn, police said.

One brother died in attempting to rescue the pushed man, said police, who gave this account:

Frank Fiore, 29, and Patrick Fiore, 22 drowned after they had gone fishing on the pier with their brothers, Anthony, 19, and Joseph, Jr., 12, who is mentally retarded.

Joseph pushed Patrick into the water. Frank, recently discharged from the army, jumped in after Patrick. Both brothers disappeared.

Three Newburgh Policemen Quit

According to an announcement from Newburgh, three policemen have sent their resignations from the force to Chief John J. Mullarkey.

They are Thomas J. Murphy, 33, veteran of six years service; Joseph Haley and John C. Scott, both with about a year of service.

City Manager Robert P. Aex said that Murphy is now under charges of improperly patrolling his post on April 19, and was scheduled to appear before a closed departmental hearing Friday.

The charge was made by Police Chief John J. Mullarkey, Mr. Aex said, on the basis of a report by a superior officer that Murphy had failed to check in with police headquarters from a call box on his post at a specified time.

Murphy told The News today that he was resigning from the force in order to devote full time to the operation of his taxi business, which he has been running along with his police work.

He said he had been considering quitting the force "for some time," and that the charge had been the final push he needed.

Blames Low Salary

Murphy blamed "low salary, cost of living, unreasonable working conditions and the high cost of uniforms" for his move to quit.

Chief Mullarkey revealed that Scott had been "reprimanded" two weeks ago for a "minor offense," but "certainly not serious enough to cause him to resign." Both the chief and the city manager were inclined to believe that Scott, along with Haley, had resigned because of the prospects of more money in some other line of work.

Haley's record is clear, Chief Mullarkey said. He joined the force May 23, 1951, to fill a vacancy created by the retirement of Daniel Leone.

All were members of the Police Benevolent Association. Murphy, as vice-president last year, was particularly active, both for the PBA and for the Police Athletic League.

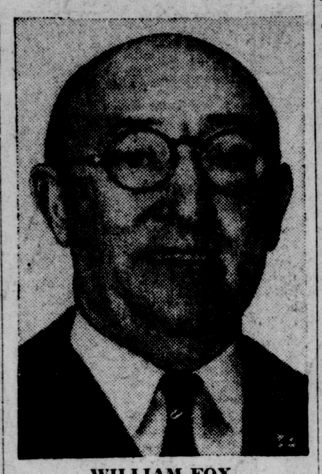
A few dealers were expected to proclaim the $10 down and $1-a-week type of sale, but in most cases spokesmen for business said the changes probably will be moderate.

Regulation "W" required a one-third down payment on automobiles and 15 per cent down on furniture and appliances, with 18 months to pay.

The government still will regulate terms for real estate purchases — under regulation "X" — and officials said there is little likelihood of a suspension in this field.

Producer Dies



WILLIAM FOX

New York, May 8 (AP)—William Fox, 73, a pioneer motion picture producer and one-time operator of more than 250 theatres valued at more than $100 million, died in Doctors Hospital today.

He ran $1,600 into a personal fortune of $35 million but his moving picture empire crumbled under the depression, creditors and law suits.

He served a five-month term in prison at the age of 63 on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice and defraud the government. He was accused of bribing a Pennsylvania Circuit Court judge to obtain favorable bankruptcy verdicts.

contract in the west German Parliament.

Grotewohl's telegram to Stalin said east Germany would strive to retain what he called the freedoms of the Soviet system "rather than bow to the yoke of American imperialism."

East German sources said the Grotewohl government has full power to establish an armed force without asking the state's hand-picked Parliament. Present provisions allow for a police force of undertermined size and funds could be provided by decree since all financing is state-controlled.

They pointed out that Soviet approval for an army undoubtedly has been given in advance and the party and government have used the technique of notifying the Kremlin merely for propaganda purposes.

6,915 Took Part In X-Ray Survey

The community chest X-ray survey which started in Ulster county April 8 as part of a five-year program of chest X-rays for Ulster county people has now been completed, according to an announcement made by Dr. Robert H. Broad, Ulster county commissioner of health. A total of 6,915 persons in the townships of Saugerties, Shandaken, and New Paltz took advantage of the program for a free chest X-ray carried on through the mobile unit of the New York State Department of Health.

The survey was sponsored by the Ulster County Department of Health. Assistance in the organization, promotion, and publicity was given by the Ulster County TB and Health Association through its Christmas Seal funds.

Dr. Broad expressed appreciation to the many workers who have made this program possible in these townships. Reports or notices will be forwarded to all persons X-rayed following the interception of the X-rays by specialists at the Ulster County TB Hospital.

Fleet Commander Concerned Over Russian Activity

Taipeh, Formosa, May 8 (AP)—America's Pacific fleet commander indicated today his main concern, if the Korean war spreads, would be what Russia would do with her big Pacific fleet of submarines.

It "would be a threat if used offensively," Adm. Arthur W. Radford told a news conference.

In the event of such a general emergency, Radford envisaged close cooperation of British and French forces in the Pacific. He has conferred with Far East military commanders of both on a tour of the Philippines and Formosa. The area recently was transferred to his protective jurisdiction from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Far East command.

Radford said protection of Formosa from a Chinese Communist invasion or a blockade of the Red China coast would be no problem for the Pacific fleet. He predicted Formosa soon would be impregnable.

If ordered to, the Pacific fleet commander said, his forces could blockade the China coast with "significant, long range effects."

AMERICAN BONAPARTES

"I wish," said Napoleon at St. Helena, "that my brother Joseph would settle in America, so that he could marry his daughters into the Washington and Jefferson families and have future presidents of the United States among his relatives." This remark is recorded in the journals of his friend and companion in exile, General Bertrand, now published for the first time.

Napoleon did not know very much about America. Washington and Jefferson had no sons, and even if they had, accession to the presidency rarely runs in families. Joseph, the former king, first of Naples, then of Spain, did, however, go to the United States and live there for 17 years. He left no American descendants, unlike his brother Jerome, ex-king of Westphalia, who left an American line.

One of this line, though not mentioned for the presidency, did attempt national eminence. This was Charles Jerome Bonaparte of Maryland, who achieved prominence by his work for civil service reform. This attracted the attention of Theodore Roosevelt, who, though Bonaparte had been a Democrat, made him first his secretary of the navy and then attorney general. He was a competent official, though not the ablest ever to hold these posts. He died in 1921.

IS YOUR YARD SAFE?

The yard should be a safe and happy place where parents and children can work, relax and play, but of the nearly 5,000,000 accidents that occur in and around American homes each year a very large number occur in the yard.

If your yard is to be a place where children can safely run and jump and climb and roll in the grass, and where you and your husband can garden or sit back and enjoy the sun and fresh air with minds at ease, make sure now that safe conditions will prevail. And, since active children—and adults, too—will somehow, sometime manage to cut, scratch or scrape themselves in spite of all precautions, make sure your medicine cabinet contains the first-aid supplies needed for treating such wounds.

In making the safety check of the yard keep in mind the following all-too-common accident traps. Boxes and boards with protruding nails. Pieces of rusty metal from broken toys, in the grass or sandbox. Cellar doors left open for children to tumble through. Sagging clothes lines that a child may run into. Garden tools left in the grass for someone to step on or stumble over. Play equipment with frayed ropes, or with broken or splintery rungs or boards.

VICE PRESIDENTS

Not only is a presidential candidate to be nominated by each party this fall. A vice president must be chosen as well and it is to be hoped that the selection will be more carefuly considered than has sometimes been done. Seven vice presidents have become president through their predecessors' death in office, Harry S. Truman being the latest.

Without passing judgment on the vice presidents who were promoted by fate, the record shows a painfully large number of the others who, so far as known, had no qualifications at all for the higher post and whose elevation would have been a calamity. True, some might have risen to the responsibility. When Chester A. Arthur became president on the death of Garfield, his accession was generally deplored; but he made a dignified and competent president.

To get a good vice president, able men must be willing to accept the post. At least one who would have honored the presidency missed it twice by refusing the lower post. In 1840 Daniel Webster could have run with William H. Harrison and in 1848 with Zachary Taylor, both of whom died in office. He missed the presidency because of undue pride.

Politicians are sometimes pictured as being excessively fond of comfort. In an election year, however, most of them seem to be able to be quite happy sitting on the fence.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JUDICIAL REVIEW

President Truman's assertion of unlimited power, no longer stoutly maintained, challenged by the decision of Judge David A. Pine, is now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari.

In our system of checks and balances, the executive and legislative branches of government are independent of the judicial, but the majesty of the law crowns all three who must abide by it. The issue in hand is not wages, prices, profits, steel or cigarette butts. The issue is whether the President may function without a law.

In one of the earliest and most important cases argued before the Supreme Court, Chisholm vs. Georgia, Justice James Wilson in 1793, only four years after the Constitution was adopted, fully stated the authority of the American nation over all men within it. This decision knocks down any theory of unlimited powers and is the first step in establishing the right of judicial review. I quote from it the applicable paragraphs:

"Whoever considers in a combined and comprehensive view the general texture of the Constitution will be satisfied that the people of the United States intended to form themselves into a nation for national purposes. They instituted, for such purposes, a national government, complete in all its parts, with powers legislative, executive and judiciary; and in all those powers extending over the whole nation. Is it congruous that, with regard to such purposes, any person, natural or artificial, should be permitted to claim successfully an entire exemption from the jurisdiction of the national government? Would not such claims, crowned with success, be repugnant to our very existence as a nation? . . ."

The court decided that it possessed the power, in this particular case, to review matters between states and between a citizen and a state.

Ten years later, in 1803, Chief Justice John Marshall wrote the outstanding decision of Marbury vs. Madison, which established beyond doubt the authority of the Supreme Court to provide judicial review where needed. He wrote:

"The judicial power of the United States is extended to all cases arising under the Constitution.

"Could it be the intention of those who gave this power to say that in using it the Constitution should not be looked into? That a case arising under the Constitution should be decided without examining the instrument under which is arises?

"This is too extravagant to be maintained.

In some cases, then, the Constitution must be looked into by the judges. And if they can open it at all, what part of it are they forbidden to read or to obey?"

Marshall decided:

"Thus, the particular phraseology of the Constitution of the United States confirms and strengthens the principle, supposed to be essential to all written constitutions, that a law repugnant to the Constitution is void, and that courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument."

In the Steel Seizure Case, the President has taken a step for which he has no law. In a word, he has exceeded his authority. That is the purport of Judge Pine's decision, which says:

"These (enumerated by him) are the only sections (of the Constitution) which have any possible relevancy, and their mere enumeration shows the utter fallacy of defendant's claim.

"Neither singly nor in the aggregate do they grant the President, expressly or impliedly, as that term has hereinabove been defined, the 'residuum of power' or 'inherent' power which authorizes him, as defendant claims, to take such action as he may deem to be necessary, including seizure of plaintiffs' properties, whenever in his opinion an emergency exists requiring him to do so in the public interests. Instead, in Congress is lodged, within Constitutional limitations, the power 'to provide for the common defense and general welfare.'"

The Supreme Court has held that it has no general supervising power over the proceedings and actions of the various administrative departments of government. However, the court may decide on the rights of individuals (or corporations) under the Constitution. The confiscation of property and protection against executive acts unwarranted by law do properly come within the scope of the judicial power.

The unanimous decision of the Supreme Court last Saturday to accept jurisdiction in the appeals of the various parties to Judge Pine's decision, and the issuance of a stay forbidding the change of the status quo regarding wages, unless mutually agreed upon, of itself establishes the truth that in the United States, no official, including the President, possesses unlimited powers.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SOME TERMS USED IN PSYCHIATRY

Now that it is known to most of us that the mind controls the body most of the time and that at times the body controls the mind, we now quite often use the word psychosomatic ('psychic' for mind and 'soma' for body), meaning that our body processes are being influenced by our minds or emotions.

Accordingly, about once a year I make it a point to give a definition of certain terms used in psychosomatic medicine or perhaps, more particularly, in psychiatry alone, using Dr. Edward A. Strecker's book "Fundamentals of Psychiatry." Dr. Strecker is professor of psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania. While most of my readers may be familiar with these terms, there are some to whom they may be unknown.

Amnesia—a gap in our memory, when we remember nothing (but fortunately for only a short time).

Benign—means that ailment is not serious; is not malignant.

Complex—the individual gets an idea into his head which causes him to direct his thoughts and actions along this line, although he is not conscious of doing so.

Euphoria—an emotional reaction chiefly marked by a sense of well-being. Even patients dangerously ill sometimes have this feeling.

Disorientation—complete loss of the ability to place one's self in relation to person, time or place.

Extrovert — turned outward — an individual whose thoughts are all away from himself socially; a doer, not a thinker.

Introvert — turned inward — a person who is thinking inwardly of himself; a thinker and planner, not very social.

Phantasy—daydreaming too much; living in a dream state.

Schizophrenia—double personality.

Phobia—fear. Usually the patient is not aware of the source of the fear, yet it is something that he is afraid to face. Something that occurred in childhood is the underlying cause of the fear, yet patient can't remember it until he is closely questioned by the psychiatrist.

Obsession—the mind of the patient is dominated or compelled to think certain things which he is unable to put out of his consciousness. His good sense does not prevent him thinking or acting in an odd or strange manner.

"Plain as the Nose on Your Face"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—One of the personal paradoxes of the steel dispute which only three or four people know, is that President Truman and CIO Chief Phil Murray for many years were not on too good personal terms.

The public has the impression that they were intimate friends and that it was partly because of this intimacy that the White House went to bat for the steelworkers. However, though the CIO has thrown powerful political support to Truman, Truman's and Murray's personal relations for a long time were cool.

The coolness dates back to the 1944 Democratic convention in Chicago when Murray was a strong supporter of Henry Wallace for the vice presidency. As such he opposed Truman, and was not in sympathy with the way Sen. Sam Jackson of Indiana abruptly gaveled the convention to a close in order to stop a bandwagon rush for Wallace.

That night Murray received a call from some of the big Democratic bosses, including Ed Flynn of the Bronx and the late Ed Kelly of Chicago. They reported that they had been trying to stop Sen. Harry S. Truman in his determination to be vice president, but weren't successful. They asked Murray if he would talk to Truman.

Murray, who had a room in the Blackstone Hotel where Senator Truman also lived, picked up the phone, asked if he could come down and see him.

"I'll come up and see you," replied Truman. And he did.

Almost bursting into the room a minute or two later, the senator from Missouri didn't wait for Murray to open the conversation.

"I know what you want," he said, "and I'm not going to do it."

He went on to say that he knew the CIO chieftain wanted him to withdraw, that he wasn't going to do so, and left.

That ended that. During the years that followed, Murray was not invited to the White House personally as he was by FDR. He went there only with other labor leaders. And it was not until about a year ago that he was called in for a personal, confidential talk with the President.

Jittery Gillette

Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, jittery chairman of the Senate Elections Subcommittee, has made out a subpoena for several other newspapermen to be grilled on news leaks, but apparently hasn't the nerve to serve them.

Especially he hasn't the nerve to serve live-wire Clark Mollenhoff of the Des Moines Register-Tribune, who wrote exactly the same story on Gillette's committee as did Eddie Milne of the Providence Journal. In fact, the editor's note appearing at the top of the Providence Journal and the Register-Tribune stated that the stories were the same.

However, Gillette has threatened Milne with jail unless he reveals his source, yet he hasn't served a subpoena on Mollenhoff, though one is all signed and ready.

Reason: Rhode Island is a long way from the voters of Iowa, while Mollenhoff writes for the biggest circulating paper in Iowa.

Incidentally, Mollenhoff isn't ducking the subpoena. He's around the capitol every day, ready to accept service. Gillette just doesn't have the guts.

Kowtowing to McCarthy

Meanwhile, the entire incident of heckling newsmen regarding their news sources indicates the extent to which Gillette has been under the thumb of Senator McCarthy, the man he is supposed to probe. What Milne and Mollenhoff wrote about the Gillettee committee was that its own staff had recommended hearings on five of the charges Senator Benton preferred against McCarthy. McCarthy, who didn't like this publicity, and who is close to Gillette, is credited with persuading him to crack down on the press.

This crackdown came as a complete surprise to Senator Hayden of Arizona, chairman of the Rules Committee, and he cautioned Gillette about it. Other members of Gillette's committee were sore. They are also peeved over the fact that, after the Senate voted unanimously 60-0 on April 10 to continue with the McCarthy investigation, a month has now passed and Gillette has done nothing.

His only move has been to cater to McCarthy's close friend, Senator Welker of Idaho, by postponing further McCarthy investigations until May 12 when Welker returns from the west.

Washington Pipeline

Few people, even in Kentucky, know how much it pays to have Alben Barkley pulling wires for the Bluegrass State. The other day Truman himself telephoned Secretary for Air Finletter and half apologetically explained that the Veep was concerned about the transfer of an air force training center from Boone county, Kentucky, to Clinton county, Ohio. The transfer had already been partially made, but now is being made back to Kentucky. Meanwhile the Senate Armed Services Committee is investigating why the air force spent the extra money to shift an air base from Kentucky to Ohio and back again. The committee doesn't know that the Veep is involved. . . . Tennessee friends of Senator McKellar are discussing the possibility of hiring a private railroad car for the senator's re-election campaign. McKellar is too feeble to travel by automobile and climb up on platforms so they plan a series of R.R. rear-platform speeches. . . . Senate Secretary Les Biffle has been quietly boosting the elderly Veep for president together with the dynamic, young secretary of the interior, Oscar Chapman, for vice president.

Merry-Go-Round

When President Truman greeted big steel executives the other day, he made a special point of shaking hands with Clarence Randall, president of Inland Steel, who had attacked him bitterly on the air. . . . Democratic bosses in Youngstown, Ohio, were really out to get Kefauver. They had bitter memories of his Cleveland crime hearings when he subpoenaed various mobsters who had enjoyed political protection and praised Youngstown Republican reform Mayor Charles B. Henderson and Youngstown Police Chief Edward J. Allen for cleaning up the city. . . . Congressman Walter Brehm of Ohio, Republican, convicted of taking kickbacks after an expose in this column, finally decided not to run for re-election. . . . Senator Williams of Delaware has made such a name for himself as a tax-fraud exposer that people outside his state now appeal to him for help. When the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company abused farmers in putting a gas line across western New York, people of that area appealed to Delaware's Williams, in addition to their own New York senators.

Queries Are Asked of Russell by Editor of West Coast Catholic Weekly

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 8.—With all the questions being addressed nowadays to presidential candidates, none perhaps will parallel those asked of Senator Russell of Georgia, Democrat, by F. Gordon O'Neill, for 17 years editor of "The Monitor," Catholice weekly in San Francisco.

The questions, seeking to learn how the Georgia senator stands on the issue of "natural law," were sent because, as Mr. O'Neill phrased it, "this nation is being divided between those who believe man has God-given rights and duties and those who teach and are taught that there are no unalienable rights but only privileges granted by the state."

Mr. O'Neill has just distributed Senator Russell's answers to the heads of all the Catholic dioceses of the United States. He recalled that Senator Russell, who is a Methodist, supported Al Smith in 1928 and pointed out that the Georgia senator is one of the men who understands the adjustment that must be made in a free country in order that Protestants, Catholics and Jews may work together on fundamentals and keep socialism from deriving any religious sanction in America.

Here are the questions by Mr. O'Neill and the answers by Senator Russell:

1. "Q. Do you believe that men are created? If answer is Yes, please state in your own words what you mean by creation, and who the creator is. This is a practical consideration because there is much material pantheism with consequent moral irresponsibility prevalent in this country.

"A. Man is created. He is created by the Lord God Almighty.

2. "Q. Do you believe that men are equal? In what sense?

"A. Man is equal in the sight of God, for God is no respector of persons.

3. "Q. Do you believe that men have God-given rights, that no government may deny to them? This is a practical question because it is being taught in law schools that man has no rights, but only privileges granted by the state.

"A. Men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, such as the right to worship God as he sees fit.

4. "Q. Do you believe that man was created to live according to the law of his rational nature, or is everything he feels like doing justified?

"A. Man is to live by his conscience, while abiding by the guidance of God.

5. "Q. Does the citizen exist for the aggrandizement of the state, or is the state but an instrument of the citizen for the common good of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?

"A. A citizen does not exist for the aggrandizement of the state. He does have duties to the state.

6. "Q. Do parents hold the first sovereignty over their own minor children subject to their meeting certain government-demanded minimum standards for health, education and conduct, or has the government superior rights to those of parents?

"A. The parent has the first right. Both parents and children have responsibilities to the government.

7. "Q. Should the local community do for itself what it can before passing its burden to the state? Should the state do for itself what it can before passing its burden to the federal government? Or should sovereignty be transferred in all matters to the federal government?

"A. The local community should do everything that it can to attain self-sufficiency before calling upon the state. The state should exhaust all of its means before calling on the federal government. The transfer of all sovereignty and power to the federal government will, in my opinion, ultimately result in the loss of our liberties.

8. "Q. Except for defense from foreign foes, should taxes for services grow so onerous as to prevent parents from having more than one or two children? Reference is to the thirteen Russells.

"A. Taxes should never be exacted for an amount greater than is absolutely needed for the preservation and function of the government. It may well be worthwhile to do without some things in order to have others, more important, including children.

9. "Q. Should there be a union of minds for the enhancement of the common good between the various American governments and the various religions in the United States, or should government absolutely ignore religions?

"A. The spiritual strength of the American people has sustained our nation in some of its darkest hours. A revival and renewal of that spiritual strength will enable us to survive present dangers. While I am opposed to the establishment of a religion by the state, I believe that any government which ignores the strength derived from religion, as I interpret this work, is doomed to decay and destruction. Any sane government in this country will recognize the importance of spiritual values while refraining from usurping the functions of religion."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day I wrote about a guest book which guests could sign who are greeted officially by the Mayor of Kingston. According to Thomas Bohan it seems such a book exists in the American Legion Building. This book is put before celebrities who visit the American Legion Building. I understand that many famous musicians who have visited Kingston and the Legion building and kings of the American sport world have signed in the Legion guest book. Mr. Bohan is the first one who ever told me such a book existed there, although I have had this idea in the column off and on for a long time. Some day I must stop off and take a look at it. Andy Murphy, 3rd, the present commander, said it is quite well worn. Well so it should be as it shows it has been used.

One of the readers of this column said that I mentioned Babe Ruth as a celebrity who visited Kingston and could have signed the Mayor's guest book if such a book existed. He also mentioned the following who have visited Kingston: There was Al Smith around 1927, Lillian and Dorothy Gish around 1915, Chief Justice Hughes, 1909. He also knew the following had visited Kingston but was not sure of the dates: Admiral Byrd, Rudy Vallee, Sir Hubert Wilkins, Max Schmelling, Jack Dempsey, Paul Whitman, Xavier Cugat and many others.

Dr. Albert B. Corey, state historian of the State Education Dept. of Albany, sent me a list of some 145 historical markers which as he quotes in his letter, "should have been erected." His list includes the location of the marker and also by whom the information was sent in. No. 16 marker sent in by Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties lists the interesting "Cornelius Person's Store. Site of store of the whole region; built before 1750; where recruits assembled and patriotic meetings held and trappers sold their furs." I would like to hear more about that store.

No. 21 is called "The Kiersted House built by Hiskia Dubois on his farm in 1727. Bought by Christopher Kiersted, first physician in town. Born 1736, died 1791." The good doctor must have made his rounds in and around Saugerties on horseback. In those days there were no phones to disturb his sleep but to get up in the middle of a cold and stormy night and to go out in a cold barn to wake up a sleepy dutiful horse for a long ride through wilderness must have been something. What did they get for night calls in those days, I wonder?

Bakes Own Wedding Cake

Detroit (AP) — Frank Gambino wanted his wedding cake to be just so—so he baked it himself. He ended up with a cake bigger than he was. It was 9 feet high and weighed 300 pounds. It was built in several tiers with cake-like pillars holding up each tier. The base had seven steps leading up to a miniature church in front of which were figures of the bride and groom and members of the wedding party.

Old Violin in Use

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Stanley Plummer, concertmaster with the Pasadena Civic Orchestra, is using a rare 207-year-old Guadagnini violin. Plummer, also a music student at Pasadena City College, was loaned the violin by his private teacher, Vera Barstow, former concert violinist. The instrument was made, Plummer says, in Placentia, Italy, by J. P. Guadagnini, a genius-craftsman of the 18th century.

AMERICAN BONAPARTES

"I wish," said Napoleon at St. Helena, "that my brother Joseph would settle in America, so that he could marry his daughters into the Washington and Jefferson families and have future presidents of the United States among his relatives." This remark is recorded in the journals of his friend and companion in exile, General Bertrand, now published for the first time.

Napoleon did not know very much about America. Washington and Jefferson had no sons, and even if they had, accession to the presidency rarely runs in families. Joseph, the former king, first of Naples, then of Spain, did, however, go to the United States and live there for 17 years. He left no American descendants, unlike his brother Jerome, ex-king of Westphalia, who left an American line.

One of this line, though not mentioned for the presidency, did attempt national eminence. This was Charles Jerome Bonaparte of Maryland, who achieved prominence by his work for civil service reform. This attracted the attention of Theodore Roosevelt, who, though Bonaparte had been a Democrat, made him first his secretary of the navy and then attorney general. He was a competent official, though not the ablest ever to hold these posts. He died in 1921.

IS YOUR YARD SAFE?

The yard should be a safe and happy place where parents and children can work, relax and play, but of the nearly 5,000,000 accidents that occur in and around American homes each year a very large number occur in the yard.

If your yard is to be a place where children can safely run and jump and climb and roll in the grass, and where you and your husband can garden or sit back and enjoy the sun and fresh air with minds at ease, make sure now that safe conditions will prevail. And, since active children—and adults, too—will somehow, sometime manage to cut, scratch or scrape themselves in spite of all precautions, make sure your medicine cabinet contains the first-aid supplies needed for treating such wounds.

In making the safety check of the yard keep in mind the following all-too-common accident traps. Boxes and boards with protruding nails. Pieces of rusty metal from broken toys, in the grass or sandbox. Cellar doors left open for children to tumble through. Sagging clothes lines that a child may run into. Garden tools left in the grass for someone to step on or stumble over. Play equipment with frayed ropes, or with broken or splintery rungs or boards.

VICE PRESIDENTS

Not only is a presidential candidate to be nominated by each party this fall. A vice president must be chosen as well and it is to be hoped that the selection will be more carefuly considered than has sometimes been done. Seven vice presidents have become president through their predecessors' death in office, Harry S. Truman being the latest.

Without passing judgment on the vice presidents who were promoted by fate, the record shows a painfully large number of the others who, so far as known, had no qualifications at all for the higher post and whose elevation would have been a calamity. True, some might have risen to the responsibility. When Chester A. Arthur became president on the death of Garfield, his accession was generally deplored; but he made a dignified and competent president.

To get a good vice president, able men must be willing to accept the post. At least one who would have honored the presidency missed it twice by refusing the lower post. In 1840 Daniel Webster could have run with William H. Harrison and in 1848 with Zachary Taylor, both of whom died in office. He missed the presidency because of undue pride.

Politicians are sometimes pictured as being excessively fond of comfort. In an election year, however, most of them seem to be able to be quite happy sitting on the fence.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JUDICIAL REVIEW

President Truman's assertion of unlimited power, no longer stoutly maintained, challenged by the decision of Judge David A. Pine, is now on appeal to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari.

In our system of checks and balances, the executive and legislative branches of government are independent of the judicial, but the majesty of the law crowns all three who must abide by it. The issue in hand is not wages, prices, profits, steel or cigarette butts. The issue is whether the President may function without a law.

In one of the earliest and most important cases argued before the Supreme Court, Chisholm vs. Georgia, Justice James Wilson in 1793, only four years after the Constitution was adopted, fully stated the authority of the American nation over all men within it. This decision knocks down any theory of unlimited powers and is the first step in establishing the right of judicial review. I quote from it the applicable paragraphs:

"Whoever considers in a combined and comprehensive view the general texture of the Constitution will be satisfied that the people of the United States intended to form themselves into a nation for national purposes. They instituted, for such purposes, a national government, complete in all its parts, with powers legislative, executive and judiciary; and in all those powers extending over the whole nation. Is it congruous that, with regard to such purposes, any person, natural or artificial, should be permitted to claim successfully an entire exemption from the jurisdiction of the national government? Would not such claims, crowned with success, be repugnant to our very existence as a nation? . . ."

The court decided that it possessed the power, in this particular case, to review matters between states and between a citizen and a state.

Ten years later, in 1803, Chief Justice John Marshall wrote the outstanding decision of Marbury vs. Madison, which established beyond doubt the authority of the Supreme Court to provide judicial review where needed. He wrote:

"The judicial power of the United States is extended to all cases arising under the Constitution.

"Could it be the intention of those who gave this power to say that in using it the Constitution should not be looked into? That a case arising under the Constitution should be decided without examining the instrument under which is arises?

"This is too extravagant to be maintained.

In some cases, then, the Constitution must be looked into by the judges. And if they can open it at all, what part of it are they forbidden to read or to obey?"

Marshall decided:

"Thus, the particular phraseology of the Constitution of the United States confirms and strengthens the principle, supposed to be essential to all written constitutions, that a law repugnant to the Constitution is void, and that courts, as well as other departments, are bound by that instrument."

In the Steel Seizure Case, the President has taken a step for which he has no law. In a word, he has exceeded his authority. That is the purport of Judge Pine's decision, which says:

"These (enumerated by him) are the only sections (of the Constitution) which have any possible relevancy, and their mere enumeration shows the utter fallacy of defendant's claim.

"Neither singly nor in the aggregate do they grant the President, expressly or impliedly, as that term has hereinabove been defined, the 'residuum of power' or 'inherent' power which authorizes him, as defendant claims, to take such action as he may deem to be necessary, including seizure of plaintiffs' properties, whenever in his opinion an emergency exists requiring him to do so in the public interests. Instead, in Congress is lodged, within Constitutional limitations, the power 'to provide for the common defense and general welfare.'"

The Supreme Court has held that it has no general supervising power over the proceedings and actions of the various administrative departments of government. However, the court may decide on the rights of individuals (or corporations) under the Constitution. The confiscation of property and protection against executive acts unwarranted by law do properly come within the scope of the judicial power.

The unanimous decision of the Supreme Court last Saturday to accept jurisdiction in the appeals of the various parties to Judge Pine's decision, and the issuance of a stay forbidding the change of the status quo regarding wages, unless mutually agreed upon, of itself establishes the truth that in the United States, no official, including the President, possesses unlimited powers.

That Body of Yours

SOME TERMS USED IN PSYCHIATRY

Now that it is known to most of us that the mind controls the body most of the time and that at times the body controls the mind, we now quite often use the word psychosomatic ('psychic' for mind and 'soma' for body), meaning that our body processes are being influenced by our minds or emotions.

Accordingly, about once a year I make it a point to give a definition of certain terms used in psychosomatic medicine or perhaps, more particularly, in psychiatry alone, using Dr. Edward A. Strecker's book "Fundamentals of Psychiatry." Dr. Strecker is professor of psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania. While most of my readers may be familiar with these terms, there are some to whom they may be unknown.

Amnesia—a gap in our memory, when we remember nothing (but fortunately for only a short time).

Benign—means that ailment is not serious; is not malignant.

Complex—the individual gets an idea into his head which causes him to direct his thoughts and actions along this line, although he is not conscious of doing so.

Euphoria—an emotional reaction chiefly marked by a sense of well-being. Even patients dangerously ill sometimes have this feeling.

Disorientation—complete loss of the ability to place one's self in relation to person, time or place.

Extrovert — turned outward — an individual whose thoughts are all away from himself socially; a doer, not a thinker.

Introvert — turned inward — a person who is thinking inwardly of himself; a thinker and planner, not very social.

Phantasy—daydreaming too much; living in a dream state.

Schizophrenia—double personality.

Phobia—fear. Usually the patient is not aware of the source of the fear, yet it is something that he is afraid to face. Something that occurred in childhood is the underlying cause of the fear, yet patient can't remember it until he is closely questioned by the psychiatrist.

Obsession—the mind of the patient is dominated or compelled to think certain things which he is unable to put out of his consciousness. His good sense does not prevent him thinking or acting in an odd or strange manner.

Washington—One of the personal paradoxes of the steel dispute which only three or four people know, is that President Truman and CIO Chief Phil Murray for many years were not on too good personal terms.

The public has the impression that they were intimate friends and that it was partly because of this intimacy that the White House went to bat for the steelworkers. Few people, even in Kentucky, know how much it pays to have Alben Barkley pulling wires for the Bluegrass State. The other day Truman himself telephoned Secretary for Air Finletter and half apologetically explained that the Veep was concerned about the transfer of an air force training center from Boone county, Kentucky, to Clinton county, Ohio. The transfer had already been partially made, but now is being made back to Kentucky. Meanwhile the Senate Armed Services Committee is investigating why the air force spent the extra money to shift an air base from Kentucky to Ohio and back again. The committee doesn't know that the Veep is involved. . . . Tennessee friends of Senator McKellar are discussing the possibility of hiring a private railroad car for the senator's re-election campaign. McKellar is too feeble to travel by automobile and climb up on platforms so they plan a series of R.R. rear-platform speeches. . . . Senate Secretary Les Biffle has been quietly boosting the elderly Veep for president together with the dynamic, young secretary of the interior, Oscar Chapman, for vice president.

Merry-Go-Round

When President Truman greeted big steel executives the other day, he made a special point of shaking hands with Clarence Randall, president of Inland Steel, who had attacked him bitterly on the air. . . . Democratic bosses in Youngstown, Ohio, were really out to get Kefauver. They had bitter memories of his Cleveland crime hearings when he subpoenaed various mobsters who had enjoyed political protection and praised Youngstown Republican reform Mayor Charles B. Henderson and Youngstown Police Chief Edward J. Allen for cleaning up the city. . . . Congressman Walter Brehm of Ohio, Republican, convicted of taking kickbacks after an expose in this column, finally decided not to run for re-election. . . . Senator Williams of Delaware has made such a name for himself as a tax-fraud exposer that people outside his state now appeal to him for help. When the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company abused farmers in putting a gas line across western New York, people of that area appealed to Delaware's Williams, in addition to their own New York senators.

Wore Same Style Hat for 421 Years

When Francisco Pizarro (1471-1541) invaded Peru in 1531 he was joined by a young native, the first Peruvian to favor the conqueror. In gratitude, Pizarro gave the youth one of his own helmets. Although 421 years have passed since, the Chola-Aymara tribe still wear hats which are copies of Pizarro's helmet, decorated with gold and silver trimmings.

Queries Are Asked of Russell by Editor of West Coast Catholic Weekly

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 8.—With all the questions being addressed nowadays to presidential candidates, none perhaps will parallel those asked of Senator Russell of Georgia, Democrat, by F. Gordon O'Neill, for 17 years editor of "The Monitor," Catholice weekly in San Francisco.

The questions, seeking to learn how the Georgia senator stands on the issue of "natural law," were sent because, as Mr. O'Neill phrased it, "this nation is being divided between those who believe man has God-given rights and duties and those who teach and are taught that there are no unalienable rights but only privileges granted by the state."

Mr. O'Neill has just distributed Senator Russell's answers to the heads of all the Catholic dioceses of the United States. He recalled that Senator Russell, who is a Methodist, supported Al Smith in 1928 and pointed out that the Georgia senator is one of the men who understands the adjustment that must be made in a free country in order that Protestants, Catholics and Jews may work together on fundamentals and keep socialism from deriving any religious sanction in America.

Here are the questions by Mr. O'Neill and the answers by Senator Russell:

1. "Q. Do you believe that men are created? If answer is Yes, please state in your own words what you mean by creation, and who the creator is. This is a practical consideration because there is much material pantheism with consequent moral irresponsibility prevalent in this country.

"A. Man is created. He is created by the Lord God Almighty.

2. "Q. Do you believe that men are equal? In what sense?

"A. Man is equal in the sight of God, for God is no respector of persons.

3. "Q. Do you believe that men have God-given rights, that no government may deny to them? This is a practical question because it is being taught in law schools that man has no rights, but only privileges granted by the state.

"A. Men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, such as the right to worship God as he sees fit.

4. "Q. Do you believe that man was created to live according to the law of his rational nature, or is everything he feels like doing justified?

"A. Man is to live by his conscience, while abiding by the guidance of God.

5. "Q. Does the citizen exist for the aggrandizement of the state, or is the state but an instrument of the citizen for the common good of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness?

"A. A citizen does not exist for the aggrandizement of the state. He does have duties to the state.

6. "Q. Do parents hold the first sovereignty over their own minor children subject to their meeting certain government-demanded minimum standards for health, education and conduct, or has the government superior rights to those of parents?

"A. The parent has the first right. Both parents and children have responsibilities to the government.

7. "Q. Should the local community do for itself what it can before passing its burden to the state? Should the state do for itself what it can before passing its burden to the federal government? Or should sovereignty be transferred in all matters to the federal government?

"A. The local community should do everything that it can to attain self-sufficiency before calling upon the state. The state should exhaust all of its means before calling on the federal government. The transfer of all sovereignty and power to the federal government will, in my opinion, ultimately result in the loss of our liberties.

8. "Q. Except for defense from foreign foes, should taxes for services grow so onerous as to prevent parents from having more than one or two children? Reference is to the thirteen Russells.

"A. Taxes should never be exacted for an amount greater than is absolutely needed for the preservation and function of the government. It may well be worthwhile to do without some things in order to have others, more important, including children.

9. "Q. Should there be a union of minds for the enhancement of the common good between the various American governments and the various religions in the United States, or should government absolutely ignore religions?

"A. The spiritual strength of the American people has sustained our nation in some of its darkest hours. A revival and renewal of that spiritual strength will enable us to survive present dangers. While I am opposed to the establishment of a religion by the state, I believe that any government which ignores the strength derived from religion, as I interpret this work, is doomed to decay and destruction. Any sane government in this country will recognize the importance of spiritual values while refraining from usurping the functions of religion."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day I wrote about a guest book which guests could sign who are greeted officially by the Mayor of Kingston. According to Thomas Bohan it seems such a book exists in the American Legion Building. This book is put before celebrities who visit the American Legion Building. I understand that many famous musicians who have visited Kingston and the Legion building and kings of the American sport world have signed in the Legion guest book. Mr. Bohan is the first one who ever told me such a book existed there, although I have had this idea in the column off and on for a long time. Some day I must stop off and take a look at it. Andy Murphy, 3rd, the present commander, said it is quite well worn. Well so it should be as it shows it has been used.

One of the readers of this column said that I mentioned Babe Ruth as a celebrity who visited Kingston and could have signed the Mayor's guest book if such a book existed. He also mentioned the following who have visited Kingston: There was Al Smith around 1927, Lillian and Dorothy Gish around 1915, Chief Justice Hughes, 1909. He also knew the following had visited Kingston but was not sure of the dates: Admiral Byrd, Rudy Vallee, Sir Hubert Wilkins, Max Schmelling, Jack Dempsey, Paul Whitman, Xavier Cugat and many others.

Dr. Albert B. Corey, state historian of the State Education Dept. of Albany, sent me a list of some 145 historical markers which as he quotes in his letter, "should have been erected." His list includes the location of the marker and also by whom the information was sent in. No. 16 marker sent in by Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties lists the interesting "Cornelius Person's Store. Site of store of the whole region; built before 1750; where recruits assembled and patriotic meetings held and trappers sold their furs." I would like to hear more about that store.

No. 21 is called "The Kiersted House built by Hiskia Dubois on his farm in 1727. Bought by Christopher Kiersted, first physician in town. Born 1736, died 1791." The good doctor must have made his rounds in and around Saugerties on horseback. In those days there were no phones to disturb his sleep but to get up in the middle of a cold and stormy night and to go out in a cold barn to wake up a sleepy dutiful horse for a long ride through wilderness must have been something. What did they get for night calls in those days, I wonder?

Bakes Own Wedding Cake

Detroit (AP) — Frank Gambino wanted his wedding cake to be just so—so he baked it himself. He ended up with a cake bigger than he was. It was 9 feet high and weighed 300 pounds. It was built in several tiers with cake-like pillars holding up each tier. The base had seven steps leading up to a miniature church in front of which were figures of the bride and groom and members of the wedding party.

Old Violin in Use

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Stanley Plummer, concertmaster with the Pasadena Civic Orchestra, is using a rare 207-year-old Guadagnini violin. Plummer, also a music student at Pasadena City College, was loaned the violin by his private teacher, Vera Barstow, former concert violinist. The instrument was made, Plummer says, in Placentia, Italy, by J. P. Guadagnini, a genius-craftsman of the 18th century.

Dewey Addresses ChurchConvention

Lake Placid, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Gov. Dewey asserts that "the very acceptance of communism is a denial of the existence of God, yet there are those giving their lives to the service of God who do not seem to have discovered that simple fact."

In an address yesterday at the 84th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Albany, Dewey said, "if freedom of religion is going to survive in this world, it will survive only if the present floodtide of communism begins to ebb." He continued:

For this reason, it is a paradox to me that there should still be a number of Christian clergymen who have been so gullible as to accept substantial portions of Communist dogma and of Communist propaganda in world affairs.

"One does not have to be a Communist to give aid and comfort to the enemy. The mere acceptance of the materialistic, socialistic philosophy is sufficient to undermine the faith of the people."

Dewey did not name any clergymen.

President Opposed

tion or repair of airfields in Communist areas.

3. The commission to supervise an armistice shall include two Communist satellite nations, Poland and Czechoslovakia, and two chosen by the United Nations, Sweden and Switzerland.

It was the first point that was at issue and it was that one over which the President was precise and adamant. He said "we will not buy an armistice by turning over human beings for slaughter or slavery."

Truman declared the UN had taken extreme care in separating the 100,000 prisoners who said they would oppose return from the 70,000 who wanted to go back, adding that the UN would agree to an impartial screening, after an armistice, of the prisoners. (The mechanics of such a screening are still under consideration.) Truman said "nothing could be fairer."

Taking the case directly to the Russians could have indirect beneficial results for the allies even if the Kremlin rejected the armistice proposal. A rejection by Moscow would leave Russia in the position of virtually ordering her Chinese and Korean satellites to continue a war which has helped only the Russian Communists.

The Korean war has pinned down in that remote part of the world seven United States divisions, substantial portions of the United States Air Force and ships and planes of the navy. It has cost the United States 108,000 battle casualties and the loss of planes ground force arms and equipment and a few small ships. That, as the Kremlin wanted, has helped disperse American military strength.

But the war has cost the Chinese and Korean armies an estimated 1,170,000 battle casualties and loss of weapons and equipment hard to replace. And after almost two years the Communists stand about where they were at the start, near the 38th Parallel dividing North and South Korea.

They may choose to continue standing there, behind the fortifications in depth which they have built up along the stalemated battleline since truce talks started last summer.

Foster said the Communists "have the ability to mount an attack; whether they do so is another question." He said, also, that "whether we have to face the broadening of hostilities" is not yet known.

U. S. Fifth Air . . .

100 miles from the Manchurian border.

The deep penetration of Korea by MIG pilots came after days in which none challenged unusually concentrated allied raids on Red rail lines leading to Pyongyang.

On the ground, the U. S. 8th Army announced, two strong allied tank raids smashed through Red installations in brisk battles on the central front.

The two big tank forces struck in a bright midday sun Wednesday on the Kumhwa-Kumsong road, a vital transportation link. One force battled two Red battalions which attacked the tanks with mortars and artillery.

The tanks rumbled across rough terrain blasting the dug-in Reds. Tankers estimated they killed 49 Reds, wounded 133, and damaged 90 bunkers and 54 trenches.

The second tank force reported it destroyed five buildings, damaged 20 bunkers and eight trenches.

The tempo of battle stepped up all across the 155-mile battlefront with the Reds firing 5,132 rounds of artillery and mortar Wednesday.

The sea war, the navy reported, was marked by duels between three U. S. destroyers and Red shore batteries. The destroyers Laffey, Fox and Owens reported silencing the Communist guns.

Gross Puts Finger

James J. Moran shook him down for a $15,000 political contribution during the former Mayor William O'Dwyer's 1949 campaign.

Gross said he bought two suits for Chief Inspector August Flath and gave him two hundred dollars at a dinner in 1947. Flath, who retired last year along with Whalen, was in the department's number two spot at the time—chief of staff.

Testifying to the boldness of his operations, Gross said that one police inspector used to steal cards listing Gross's phone numbers from the files of the commissioner of investigation, John M. Murtagh.

He said the inspector told him he could do anything he wanted in the investigation commissioner's office.

When any of Gross' men got picked up by police he said he would have the fingerprint record showing his previous convictions taken out of police department files so they would be brought up and charged as first offenders.

Fire at Dump Is

men were served coffee and sandwiches by the Volunteers of America.

The truck from Cordts Hose Company was moved to Central station to cover there while the other men and equipment from central station were at the dump fire.

Other calls yesterday were: at 3:30 p. m., for a grass fire near 29 Elmendorf street, covered by Wiltwyck; a slight fire in a car owned by Mrs. Jane Carter, 103 Downs street, on the Boulevard, also covered by Wiltwyck; a grass fire at 8:18 p. m., at Kingston Point covered by Union and Cornell and a brush fire at Forsyth Park at 5 p. m., covered by Wiltwyck.

Mapping City's Air Defense

Kingston Observation Post Calls for Male Volunteers

The Kingston observation post needs male volunteers to man the watch between midnight and 6 a. m. as part of the national civil defense effort, it was announced last night at a meeting of the local Ground Observer Corps at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The post, located on top of the Governor Clinton Hotel, will be placed on 24-hour duty beginning May 17. Approximately 35 men, each of whom would serve two hours a week, are required to man the Air Force spotting equipment.

In addition to the men, who would serve during the night, the Corps also has vacancies for women to serve two-hour shifts during the daytime. Those interested in serving are asked to call Mrs. George D. Logan, 1544, or Mrs. George Matthews, 170.

Praises State Law

William J. McGrath, chief of aircraft warning of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, praised the state civil defense law, describing it as the best in the United States. Sen. Arthur H. Wicks replied that the law was, in his opinion, designed for the fullest satisfaction of all and the best interests of the state.

Col. Maurice Broner, director of civil defense, 26th Air Division, said that he was much impressed with the splendid spirit of the community and the fine job that Mrs. Logan, post supervisor, and her assistants were doing.

"It is heartening," he said, "to see a turnout like this tonight. It shows Kingston people are patriotic and are willing to assist the air force."

May Save Millions

Major Robert Gernand of the 26th Air Division spoke briefly, reporting that 750,000 civilians were needed throughout the nation to man observation posts. "By civilians contributing two hours a week of their time millions of lives may be saved," he said.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said that he was proud of the Kingston observation post and appreciated the nature of the service rendered by the spotters in the interests of civil defense. Sherwood Davis, Kingston director of civil defense, also spoke briefly.

Praises Observers

Mrs. Logan, who was appointed supervisor in February, 1950, paid high tribute to Mrs. Matthews, chief observer, and her assistant chief observers, for their splendid work during the past two years. The post must have 168 people by May 17, Mrs. Logan said, pointing out that approximately 252 were required to furnish the post with the reserve it needs.

Training manuals were distributed at the meeting. Mrs. Logan said that those who were not at the meeting could pick up manuals at the city hall from 2 to 4 p. m., or from 7 to 8 p. m. Monday, May 12. She and Mrs. Matthews will be at city hall at that time to fingerprint observers who have signed up, as well as any other new volunteers who come forward to serve. At 8:15 p. m., there will be a meeting of all assistant chief observers, also at city hall.

Beavers Taste Good

Helena, Mont. (AP)—A customer asked caterer Fred Jorgenson to stuff and roast two beavers. "They smelled like we were cooking cottonwood trees," he said. "But they got nice and tender like chicken." Jorgenson reported the patrons "licked the platter clean."

Tokyo, May 8 (AP)—The House of Representatives voted today to seek membership for Japan in the United Nations. The bill now goes to the Upper House.

Rail Unions Ask Seizure Ruling

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Three big railroad unions are asking the Supreme Court to rule President Truman's railroad seizure illegal at the same time the high court decides the legality of the President's steel seizure.

The unions—the engineers, firemen and conductors—are happy over congressional protests touched off by Truman's seizure of the steel mills, but somewhat dismayed that presidential seizure of the roads in 1950 failed to produce a similar reaction.

However, the railroad seizure has practically no similarity to the steel industry seizure. Truman took over the roads under a law passed in 1916 and still usable, the government claims, in time of war or emergency.

By 'Inherent Power'

The steel mills, however, were not seized under any law at all; they were seized by virtue of the President's claimed inherent power. A federal judge has already ruled the steel seizure illegal and it is that decision that the Supreme Court will review starting Monday.

Truman took over the railroads almost two years ago to avert a threatened strike by the conductors and another union, the trainmen. Ever since, the railroads and the conductors, firemen and engineers have been fighting over wages and working conditions. The trainmen settled their dispute last year.

Six Persons Hurt

Chelsea, Mass., May 8 (AP)—The tanker Harold Reinauer exploded at its dock yesterday, injuring six persons, one a woman 300 yards away. The force of the blast hurled a five-ton section of the vessel 75 yards into a busy thoroughfare. The skipper, John M. Pyre of Brewer, Me., estimated damage at half a million dollars. One crewman said he believed the explosion was caused by a spark from an acetylene torch.

William and Mary College was founded in 1693.

Mapping City's Air Defense

Kingston Observation Post Calls for Male Volunteers

The Kingston observation post needs male volunteers to man the watch between midnight and 6 a. m. as part of the national civil defense effort, it was announced last night at a meeting of the local Ground Observer Corps at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The post, located on top of the Governor Clinton Hotel, will be placed on 24-hour duty beginning May 17. Approximately 35 men, each of whom would serve two hours a week, are required to man the Air Force spotting equipment.

In addition to the men, who would serve during the night, the Corps also has vacancies for women to serve two-hour shifts during the daytime. Those interested in serving are asked to call Mrs. George D. Logan, 1544, or Mrs. George Matthews, 170.

Praises State Law

William J. McGrath, chief of aircraft warning of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, praised the state civil defense law, describing it as the best in the United States. Sen. Arthur H. Wicks replied that the law was, in his opinion, designed for the fullest satisfaction of all and the best interests of the state.

Col. Maurice Broner, director of civil defense, 26th Air Division, said that he was much impressed with the splendid spirit of the community and the fine job that Mrs. Logan, post supervisor, and her assistants were doing.

"It is heartening," he said, "to see a turnout like this tonight. It shows Kingston people are patriotic and are willing to assist the air force."

May Save Millions

Major Robert Gernand of the 26th Air Division spoke briefly, reporting that 750,000 civilians were needed throughout the nation to man observation posts. "By civilians contributing two hours a week of their time millions of lives may be saved," he said.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said that he was proud of the Kingston observation post and appreciated the nature of the service rendered by the spotters in the interests of civil defense. Sherwood Davis, Kingston director of civil defense, also spoke briefly.

Praises Observers

Mrs. Logan, who was appointed supervisor in February, 1950, paid high tribute to Mrs. Matthews, chief observer, and her assistant chief observers, for their splendid work during the past two years. The post must have 168 people by May 17, Mrs. Logan said, pointing out that approximately 252 were required to furnish the post with the reserve it needs.

Training manuals were distributed at the meeting. Mrs. Logan said that those who were not at the meeting could pick up manuals at the city hall from 2 to 4 p. m., or from 7 to 8 p. m. Monday, May 12. She and Mrs. Matthews will be at city hall at that time to fingerprint observers who have signed up, as well as any other new volunteers who come forward to serve. Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Frying chickens and tomatoes cost a little less in most places this week, and many stores also trimmed retail prices of hams, chuck roasts and several cuts of lamb as specials for the coming weekend.

Shoppers are likely to find some unusual bargains in cakes, too—for Mother's Day. The stores are promoting special cakes, candies and even apple pie more heavily than usual for the occasion this year.

Price declines predominated in the fresh produce department. Lower in most markets, with supplies picking up, were asparagus, beets, broccoli, celery, corn, cucumbers, escarole and endives, mushrooms, radishes and summer squash. Iceberg lettuce worked a little higher, however, and carrots, cauliflower and sweet potatoes were up in some places. Citrus fruits were about unchanged, and more strawberries and cherries were being shipped to distant markets and their prices were moving lower.

Potato Squeeze Continues

The supply squeeze in potatoes continued over most of the nation. Dealers said it appeared that markets distant from growing areas might have to wait until early June for any notable improvement.

They said many growers in California apparently were leaving their potatoes in the ground longer than usual, to grow bigger, with buyers fairly well assured for them.

Some commission dealers who normally buy large amounts of potatoes in the south said the current shortage of potatoes had resulted in disruption of normal distribution patterns. Many growers, these sources said, were selling their crops ungraded and in used bags, directly to truckers, and refusing large-scale contract commitments. Price stabilizers were investigating reports of black market operations in Alabama potatoes, which normally are shipped in volume to the midwest.

Normally the supply of old potatoes takes care of the bulk of market needs well into May. But because last year's crop was short, the pinch has carried over into new potatoes this year.

Spanish Varieties Imported

Spanish potatoes continue to be imported into New York. However, an Agriculture Department analyst there said potato importing was not likely to increase much because with larger domestic supplies in prospect within the next few weeks, shipping from across the ocean would be a risky speculation.

Frying and broiling chickens were 1 to as much as 10 cents a pound cheaper in many stores this week, reflecting record production. Some 2½ million more broiler-fryers are expected to be on the market this month than at this time last year. The tender young chickens top the Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying both this week and next. Other foods on this week's list: Asparagus and spinach.

Flour Advances

Some nationally-advertised brands of family flour advanced 10 cents a hundred pounds at the producer level this week and millers said the boosts probably would show up eventually at retail. Cake flours sold in bulk to bakeries also were marked up, about 15 cents a hundred pounds, by some mills.

In Washington, the Emergency Court of Appeals ruled that the Capehart Amendment to the price controls law was applicable to wholesalers and retailers as well as manufacturers. This is the regulation which allows sellers to base their price ceilings on the highest prices during the first half of 1950 plus all cost increases up to last July 26.

The ruling conceivably opens the door to a vast number of price increase on foods and restaurant meals. However, the Office of Price Stabilization is expected to ask the Justice Department to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court and this might delay the ruling's effectiveness for months.

Also, the food industry contends that even if its pricing structure is overhauled, the effect on consumer prices probably would be small. The National Association of Food Chains has estimated that if the industry is permitted to change its margins in line with pre-OPS practices, the result would be an increase of ¼ to 1/3 of a cent per dollar spent in chain stores.

UNCLE EF

The Man Who Knows

I want to walk by the side of the man who has suffered and seen and knows,
Who has measured his pace on the battle line and given and taken blows,
Who has never whined when the scheme went wrong nor scoffed at the failing plan—
But taken his dose with a heart of trust and the faith of a gentleman;
Who has parried and struck and sought and given and scarred with a thousand spears—
Can lift his head to the stars of heaven and isn't ashamed of his tears.
I want to grasp the hand of the man who has been through it all and seen,
Who has walked with the night of an unseen dread and struck to the world machine;
Who has beaten his breast to the winds of dawn and thirsted and starved and felt
The sting and the bite of the bitter blasts that the mouths of the fowl have dealt;
Who has tempted and fell, and rose again, and has gone on trusty and true,
With God supreme in his manly heart and his courage burning anew.

Jerry—You know that I have an interesting face.

Cleo—Yes. How much have you been offered for it?

It is now possible to pick up $10 worth of groceries by the string.

While the train was waiting on a side track down in Georgia, one of the passengers walked over to a cabin near the track, in front of which sat a cracker dog, howling. The passenger asked a native why the dog was howling.

Native—Hookworm. He's lazy.

Stranger—But is hookworm so painful?

Native—Nope.

Stranger—Why, then, should the dog howl?

Native—Jes' lazy.

Stranger—But why does laziness make him howl?

Native—Well, thet blame fool dawg is settin' on a sandburr, an' he's too tarnation lazy to git off, an' he jest' sets thar an' howls.

Tel Aviv (AP)—The volume of Israel-Swedish trade has doubled in recent years, G. Hedengren, the Swedish charge d'affairs, announced recently. Ex-POW Re-Enlists

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — Seven months of imprisonment by Communists in Korea failed to chill Leonard J. Maffioli's enthusiasm about being a U.S. Marine. He enlisted here for another three-year hitch after his first enlistment expired recently. Maffioli, a sergeant, was captured in November, 1950. He escaped when brought near the front lines to help handle other American prisoners.

Thanks Are Sent From Holland for City Gift to Bell

When a bell which Kingston helped place in the belfry of a church at The Hauge, Holland, rang for the first time recently, "One old member of the congregation came into the church crying for joy," the Rev. A. C. Austen, chaplain at The Hague, wrote Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

This city as part of its 300th anniversary observance sent a check for $225 for the placing of a bell in the tower of The English and American Episcopal Church of St. John and St. Philip, in The Hague, and with the letter of thanks received by Mayor Newkirk was a receipt for the money.

The letter was dated April 22.

The chaplain wrote:

Dear Mayor:

Thanks to your very great kindness, Kingston has hung and rung The Hague bell! All last week various furnishings and accessories were coming into the church, and on Friday the bell was hung. Despite the fact that the bell was cast in 1671, and that it has had some major adventures, its tone was as sweet and resonant as ever it had been. I hope Dr. Marshal Swan will be able to send you a recording of its clear tone, straight from its brazen throat. The bell was rung from a quarter to 11 eleven 'till 11 o'clock, when a tiny bell, which had been given us, and is in exact octave to the Hemony bell struck the hour with eleven strokes. One old member of the congregation came into the church crying for joy at the sound of the bell. Possibly others too.

I enclose the official receipt for the $225, but it is also an acknowledgment of the thrill of joy which your gracious action gave us, and for which I hope the sound of the Hemony bell with which "Is mixed the voices of the angels" will give you a "sound" expression of our thanks.

Believe me Mr. Mayor,
Yours most gratefully,
A. C. Austen,
Chaplain at The Hague.

Blames Dictators

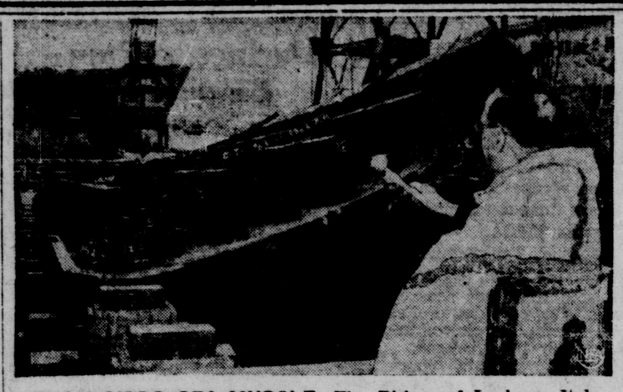
New York, May 8 (AP)—Admiral Alan G. Kirk, former ambassador to Moscow, urged last night that the United States stress that its "quarrel" is with the Soviet dictatorship and not with the Russian people. He said America's "aim should be to encourage the friendship and trust of the Russian people, who very well could be our greatest friend and ally in preventing war." "There certainly is no evidence to date that the peoples of Russia want to fight a war against the peoples of America and western Europe."

June Quotas Are Light

Local draft boards 18 (city) and 19 (county) today announced light induction quotas for June. Local Board 18 will induct only two men on June 6 and on the same date Board 19 will induct four. The two boards inducted 15 men Tuesday. Local Board 19 sent out nine men and the other board sent six.

Her Money Returns

Berkeley, Calif., May 8 (AP)—Answering a 1 a. m. doorbell ring, Miss Alice Doran found a plain white envelope on the sill. Inside was $11,700—exactly the amount she lost two weeks ago in a San Francisco bus terminal. The 46-year-old woman said she's not asking any questions.



ITALY GIRDS SEA MUSCLE—The Bishop of Leghorn, Italy, imparts his blessings on the central keel piece of the Indomito, Italy's first postwar-built destroyer. One of two "tin cans" ordered by the Italian navy, the Indomito will displace 2700 tons and boast up-to-date armament and radar equipment.

Planning Clinic Set for Tonight

The third of the series of planning clinics, or seminars, sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the Lake Katrine Grange, will take place at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall. Chester A. Baltz, Jr., chairman of the Chamber Community development committee, reported that the first two were well attended. Everyone interested in community planning is invited to attend.

The speakers at the clinics are from the State Department of Commerce, Bureau of Planning, headed by Dr. George B. Robinson. A comprehensive outline of the legal background and basic principles of community planning are presented. Baltz said, "the meetings are strictly informational, and basic, with no reference to specific local problems. They provide a sound basis, for anyone interested in planning, to proceed with the development of plans for any city, or incorporated village."

At previous clinics Dr. Robinson stressed the close relationship between industrial development, sub-division control, public improvements and protection of property values and stated, "Adequate planning is the only way to prevent haphazard expansion."

The fourth and last in this series of planning clinics will be held May 22.

Add a tablespoon of tomato paste to a quarter cup of mayonnaise and season with a little onion juice for a tangy dressing.

Murray Gets Wooden Shoes for Saturday

Kingston will be mentioned again on the Ken Murray television show starting at 8 p. m. Saturday, May 10. Part of the show will have a Dutch setting and the Kingston Chamber of Commerce presented Murray with a special pair of wooden shoes for the occasion.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Chamber in making this announcement stated that local people might be interested in viewing this show because of the frequent references made to Kingston and the area by Ken Murray.

Thanks Are Sent From Holland for City Gift to Bell

When a bell which Kingston helped place in the belfry of a church at The Hauge, Holland, rang for the first time recently, "One old member of the congregation came into the church crying for joy," the Rev. A. C. Austen, chaplain at The Hague, wrote Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

This city as part of its 300th anniversary observance sent a check for $225 for the placing of a bell in the tower of The English and American Episcopal Church of St. John and St. Philip, in The Hague, and with the letter of thanks received by Mayor Newkirk was a receipt for the money.

The letter was dated April 22.

The chaplain wrote:

Dear Mayor:

Thanks to your very great kindness, Kingston has hung and rung The Hague bell! All last week various furnishings and accessories were coming into the church, and on Friday the bell was hung. Despite the fact that the bell was cast in 1671, and that it has had some major adventures, its tone was as sweet and resonant as ever it had been. I hope Dr. Marshal Swan will be able to send you a recording of its clear tone, straight from its brazen throat. The bell was rung from a quarter to 11 eleven 'till 11 o'clock, when a tiny bell, which had been given us, and is in exact octave to the Hemony bell struck the hour with eleven strokes. One old member of the congregation came into the church crying for joy at the sound of the bell. Possibly others too.

I enclose the official receipt for the $225, but it is also an acknowledgment of the thrill of joy which your gracious action gave us, and for which I hope the sound of the Hemony bell with which "Is mixed the voices of the angels" will give you a "sound" expression of our thanks.

Believe me Mr. Mayor,
Yours most gratefully,
A. C. Austen,
Chaplain at The Hague.

Blames Dictators

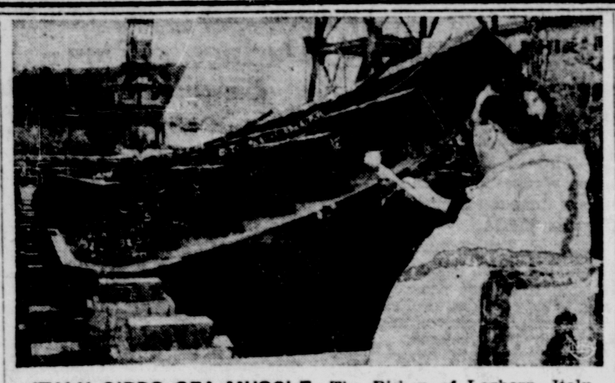
New York, May 8 (AP)—Admiral Alan G. Kirk, former ambassador to Moscow, urged last night that the United States stress that its "quarrel" is with the Soviet dictatorship and not with the Russian people. He said America's "aim should be to encourage the friendship and trust of the Russian people, who very well could be our greatest friend and ally in preventing war." "There certainly is no evidence to date that the peoples of Russia want to fight a war against the peoples of America and western Europe."

June Quotas Are Light

Local draft boards 18 (city) and 19 (county) today announced light induction quotas for June. Local Board 18 will induct only two men on June 6 and on the same date Board 19 will induct four. The two boards inducted 15 men Tuesday. Local Board 19 sent out nine men and the other board sent six.

Her Money Returns

Berkeley, Calif., May 8 (AP)—Answering a 1 a. m. doorbell ring, Miss Alice Doran found a plain white envelope on the sill. Inside was $11,700—exactly the amount she lost two weeks ago in a San Francisco bus terminal. The 46-year-old woman said she's not asking any questions.



ITALY GIRDS SEA MUSCLE—The Bishop of Leghorn, Italy, imparts his blessings on the central keel piece of the Indomito, Italy's first postwar-built destroyer. One of two "tin cans" ordered by the Italian navy, the Indomito will displace 2700 tons and boast up-to-date armament and radar equipment.

Planning Clinic Set for Tonight

The third of the series of planning clinics, or seminars, sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the Lake Katrine Grange, will take place at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall. Chester A. Baltz, Jr., chairman of the Chamber Community development committee, reported that the first two were well attended. Everyone interested in community planning is invited to attend.

The speakers at the clinics are from the State Department of Commerce, Bureau of Planning, headed by Dr. George B. Robinson. A comprehensive outline of the legal background and basic principles of community planning are presented. Baltz said, "the meetings are strictly informational, and basic, with no reference to specific local problems. They provide a sound basis, for anyone interested in planning, to proceed with the development of plans for any city, or incorporated village."

At previous clinics Dr. Robinson stressed the close relationship between industrial development, sub-division control, public improvements and protection of property values and stated, "Adequate planning is the only way to prevent haphazard expansion."

The fourth and last in this series of planning clinics will be held May 22.

Add a tablespoon of tomato paste to a quarter cup of mayonnaise and season with a little onion juice for a tangy dressing.

Hudson, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Joseph Egan, a Hudson laborer and brother of a police sergeant, was indicted today by the special Columbia county grand jury on a felony charge that he threatened the life of Mayor John L. Kelly.

Five other men had been indicted previously on misdemeanor charges involving gambling counts.

Egan was indicted specifically on charges of attempted coercion and intimidation of a public official, plus second-degree assault.

He was arrested shortly after the jury returned its sealed indictment.

He pleaded innocent at arraignment before Justice Henry L. Ughetta of state Supreme Court, who is presiding for the state-ordered investigation.

Ughetta set bail at $10,000.

Oil Dispute Likely To Go to President

Denver, May 8 (AP)—Refusal of 22 AFL, CIO and independent oil industry unions to end their week-old strike may send the wage dispute to President Truman.

The Wage Stabilization Board in Washington, D. C., scheduled a meeting for today. Yesterday, WSB Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger told the House Labor Committee the case probably would be sent to the White House, if the board failed to obtain an end to the strike.

Feinsinger had requested the unions to send their men back to work.

O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) in Denver, said last night the strike will continue. He added the union will have representatives at a WSB meeting May 13 as requested.

"In light of the history of the dispute and of the WSB's apparent inability to affect industry participation in WSB hearings, we have no alternative but to continue our strike," Knight said.

"We have patiently attempted to achieve peaceful settlements, but to no avail. We have cooperated with the board, but to no avail. We were finally forced to strike and we must continue striking until settlements are reached."

Russell Sends Wire to General

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.) chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee sent a message to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower today asking him to tell Congress if he thinks a $6,900,000,000 foreign aid program will be adequate for this nation's defenses.

Russell seeks the Democratic nomination for president.

President Truman asked $7,900,000,000 for foreign aid, but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee pared that down a billion dollars. The House Foreign affairs Committee chopping off another $100 million.

As the Armed Services Committee opened closed-door sessions, Russell told reporters he had sent Eisenhower this message:

"The Senate Armed Services Committee is holding hearings on the $6,900,000,000 mutual assistance bill. It would be of great value to the committee if you could inform us as soon as possible whether in your opinion this sum is adequate to the job of building up the defenses of the free world against aggression."

The House committee cut voted yesterday was in foreign aid funds for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Oil Dispute Likely To Go to President

Denver, May 8 (AP)—Refusal of 22 AFL, CIO and independent oil industry unions to end their week-old strike may send the wage dispute to President Truman.

The Wage Stabilization Board in Washington, D. C., scheduled a meeting for today. Yesterday, WSB Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger told the House Labor Committee the case probably would be sent to the White House, if the board failed to obtain an end to the strike.

Feinsinger had requested the unions to send their men back to work.

O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) in Denver, said last night the strike will continue. He added the union will have representatives at a WSB meeting May 13 as requested.

"In light of the history of the dispute and of the WSB's apparent inability to affect industry participation in WSB hearings, we have no alternative but to continue our strike," Knight said.

"We have patiently attempted to achieve peaceful settlements, but to no avail. We have cooperated with the board, but to no avail. We were finally forced to strike and we must continue striking until settlements are reached."

Russell Sends Wire to General

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.) chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee sent a message to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower today asking him to tell Congress if he thinks a $6,900,000,000 foreign aid program will be adequate for this nation's defenses.

Russell seeks the Democratic nomination for president.

President Truman asked $7,900,000,000 for foreign aid, but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee pared that down a billion dollars. The House Foreign affairs Committee chopping off another $100 million.

As the Armed Services Committee opened closed-door sessions, Russell told reporters he had sent Eisenhower this message:

"The Senate Armed Services Committee is holding hearings on the $6,900,000,000 mutual assistance bill. It would be of great value to the committee if you could inform us as soon as possible whether in your opinion this sum is adequate to the job of building up the defenses of the free world against aggression."

The House committee cut voted yesterday was in foreign aid funds for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Twenty years ago, a ton of carbon steel bars—a product indispensable in our economic life—cost $32. Ten years ago it cost $43. Today it costs $74. Nothing can better illustrate the gathering inflation of the past two decades than these figures.

Steel bar prices have advanced 130%. And with an impending price increase soon to be announced, this 130% will go higher.

There should be no wonder that freight rates have been increased a dozen times in ten years. Or that a thousand products using steel have gone up, up in price. Automobiles, agricultural, mining, electrical and industrial equipment, bridges and skyscrapers, freight and passenger cars, railroads—steel is the very basis of the successful operation of all thee things.

So steel prices affect almost all prices directly or indirectly. The milk truck that delivers dairy products to my door is a steel contraption. That is one reason why my milk bill is much, much higher today than it was ten and twenty years ago.

The industrial unrest of the present reflects the bad economic conditions that price inflation has caused. Wages go up and up because the dollar's purchasing power goes down, down. And in the process, the country gets into a terrible political-economic dither.

Everybody reading these lines has come face to face with the price levels that a deteriorating dollar has established. This state of affairs is becoming part and parcel of our national economic life. Millions of people take it for granted.

There is one important spot where this price inflation has not hit. In fact, the machinery of the inflation, quite paradoxically, has driven prices down. And the seriousness of this situation cannot be overstressed. For in the center of it are three cardinal economic virtues: thrift, saving, investment.

Twenty years ago, Uncle Sam was borrowing $19-billions at 3½ per cent; ten years ago, he was borrowing $72-billions at 2 1/3 per cent; today he is borrowing about $260-billions at 2¼ per cent.

And at the very time when interest rates are going down, thus discouraging thrift and saving habits in millions of our citizens, social security laws are passed requiring armies of people to sign up to lean on Uncle Sam in the years ahead.

To me there is a sinister force operating in the national economy. It is politically inspired. Interest rates are driven down, down. And grandiose plans to establish economic security from cradle to the grave are set up.

Thrift with many people becomes a mockery and saving a futile act. Oh, that isn't true with everybody. But it is prevalent enough to be disturbing.

In the language of Shakespeare: the economic times are out of joint!

Steel prices advance 130 per cent and basic interest rates go down 35 per cent. Put another way, most living costs are up 100 and 200 per cent and money rates are down a third.

Twenty years ago, a New York city widow got $900 yearly on her $20,000 savings banks deposits. Today she gets $500. She tells me it costs her three times as much to live as it did 20 years ago. One of these desperate days she is going to give away all her money, take a pauper's oath and go on relief.

She really thinks she can live better that way.

Everybody knows that living costs have gone up more than 100 per cent in two decades. Suppose interest rates had kept pace? Why, 4½ per cent interest would now be 9 per cent a year. Or more.

I wish somebody in authority in Washington had a clear conception of the terrific impact of rising prices and of declining interest rates on millions of our best people.

I wish that somebody there understood how cheap money is steadily undermining the thrift and savings habits of our good citizens. Cheap money is helping mightily to usher in the welfare state.

DPs Trapped in Shanghai

Hong Kong (AP)—An International Relief Organization official estimates there are more than 5,000 displaced persons still trapped in Communist Shanghai because nobody wants them. Most of them are White Russians, according to IRO Special Envoy Thomas Jamieson. The problem is to find countries economically capable of absorbing them, he said. Australia, Canada and the United States have taken in 640,000 displaced persons in the past few years while the United Kingdom took 80,000.

Tri-County Market Is Being Planned

Steps are being taken to organize a cooperative livestock market for farmers of Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties.

Organized under the temporary name of Hudson Valley Livestock Cooperative, a committee of farmers voted to capitalize the organization for $100,000, according to H. E. Shively of Goshen, secretary.

The plan, Shively said, is to set up a stock subscription organizational agreement for $40,000 of preferred stock and $30,000 of common stock with a minimum of 300 farmers subscribing to the common stock, which will be sold at $25 a share. Preferred stock will sell at $100 a share with interest at four per cent.

The preliminary steps were taken at a meeting on April 30 at the Orange County Community College. Albin Karsten was chairman of the meeting, and others attending included Blake Winters, Walter Burger, Daniel Barnhardt, Frank Elliot, Al Rider, August Uhlig, Harold Shively and T. Harvey Holmes. Holmes is senior marketing specialist for the state.

Several sites for the erection of the market were discussed. Although the committee took no action, the concensus was that Montgomery might be the best location, Shively reported.

Ray Hemming of Empire Marketing Cooperative is expected to attend the next committee meeting.

Kerhonkson Lists Registration for Opening of School

Announcement of the date for pre-registration of kindergarten and first grade pupils for the school year of 1952-53 in the Kerhonkson public schools was announced today by Roland A. Riegel, supervising principal.

Pre-registration will be held May 14 and 15 from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. at the elementary school.

Requirements for admission to kindergarten include the following:

Children must be four years, eight months of age as of September 3, 1952. Requirements for admission to the first grade are children must be five years, eight months or more as of September 3, 1952. Parents are requested to bring birth certificates and any health certificates they may have for their children.

Parents of kindergarten children, residing in the contract districts, have been reminded to check their local school trustees to see if their school district provides transportation. In some districts such transportation is not provided necessitating that the parents transport their own kindergarten students to school.

Principal Riegel also said this morning that in the event kindergarten registration goes beyond its expected number it may be necessary to run two half-day sessions. Parents will be informed of this schedule prior to the opening of school.

his mettle by destroying the anti-Communist opposition. He took part in the Cominform meeting that threw Yugoslavia's Communists out of the Bolshevik family. He helped send Peasant Party leaders to prison.

Ran Into Trouble

But as finance minister, Luca ran into trouble in January of this year. He decreed that old lei were to be exchanged at rates ranging all the way up to 400 old for one new, on a sliding scale. At the same time prices were reduced. The result was chaotic.

Before currency reform, the average Romanian worker earned 6,000-7,000 lei a month. Prices before currency reform were like this: A man's suit, rationed, up to 8,975 lei, or up to 19,000 on the free market; rationed shoes for women, up to 4,800 and a little higher for men's; rationed sugar, 56 lei a kilo and 200 on the free market; jam, 240 a kilo, and so forth.

No Wage Increases

There were no wage increases with currency reform, but prices were reduced 5-20 per cent. Bread, beef, and footwear for adults went down 5-10 per cent. The result was a rude jolt for the workers. There was a humming undercurrent of indignation. Luca was fired. But the worker is still being sadly exploited.

The currency reform evidently had been dictated by the Moscow bosses who sit in on the Romanian Communist government. Each Romanian ministry has a Soviet "counsellor" who has more power than the minister himself.

Major problems of government are submitted to Moscow.

The Russians also direct the army. The Soviet parade step has been introduced by special Soviet inspectors. Soldiers find the peculiar march step difficult. Soviet officers boss the Romanian army, but consider it unreliable.

Have Taken Over Youth

They have taken over the nation's youth, too. The Young Workers Union (UTM) is a mass organization of the Communists to control youth. Only UTM members can hope for higher education.

Romanian children at 14 are considered ready for manual labor. If a child is of "bourgeois" origin, he likely will be sent into manual labor rather than to secondary school.

The youngsters chafe at Communist discipline. There are jokes like this: Two men are sitting in a restaurant. The first man says "Hmm." "Yes," says the second man. The first man rises angrily: "If you're going to talk politics, I'm leaving."

The Russians are pushing the Romanian Communists into a speedup of collectivizing farms, but the peasants are resisting, despite confiscations and cruel taxes. A mighty bureaucracy presides over Romanian agriculture.

New Wave Reported

Today there are reports of a new wave of deportations in the making, the Association of Romanian Journalists, an exile group with headquarters in New York, reports: In the past few months mass deportations from Bucharest have been resumed, with city people being sent to remote places and labor camps to make room for new industrial workers, Communist functionaries and Russians. Last November all identity and ration cards were called in by the Bucharest police and returned with special markings. At the end of February the Communist party decreed Bucharest was to become a "workers city" from which all "unproductive people" would be deported. The association says the goal is to expel as many as 200,000 persons from Bucharest and to extend the deportations to other large Romanian cities. The explusions are said to be on Soviet orders, to eliminate "unreliable elements," make housing available for industrial workers and functionaries, cut down on urban consumption of food and supply manpower for slave labor programs.

Senate Approves Bill

Washington, May 8 (AP)—A federal mine safety bill with all the sharp teeth John L. Lewis has been asking for years has received the Senate's approval. The bill, passed yesterday on a voice vote, now goes to the House, where a somewhat similar measure is already awaiting action. If, in the end, two versions emerge the differences will be worked out by Senate-House conferees. The bill steered through the Senate by Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) gives the federal government power to enforce safety recommendations of the Bureau of Mines' inspectors. These inspectors now may merely make safety recommendations. Enforcement is left entirely with the states.

In Belgium, dogs are used to pull light carts.

Public Welfare... Questions, Answers

In view of increasing public interest in public welfare matters, the Ulster County Children's Committee of the State Charities Aid Association, an independent citizens group, presents the following question and answer as part of its program of providing information on tax-supported welfare activities.

Why are so many people on home relief when there are so many jobs?

Only a small percentage of these people are employable. Most of them are ill or otherwise incapacitated. Even so, home relief loads have generally declined during the past year.

Additional questions about public welfare activities may be sent to the committee through Mrs. Albert E. Milliken,, R.R. 3, Kingston. Mrs. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz is chairman of the committee.

Kerhonkson Lists Registration for Opening of School

Announcement of the date for pre-registration of kindergarten and first grade pupils for the school year of 1952-53 in the Kerhonkson public schools was announced today by Roland A. Riegel, supervising principal.

Pre-registration will be held May 14 and 15 from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. at the elementary school.

Requirements for admission to kindergarten include the following:

Children must be four years, eight months of age as of September 3, 1952. Requirements for admission to the first grade are children must be five years, eight months or more as of September 3, 1952. Parents are requested to bring birth certificates and any health certificates they may have for their children.

Parents of kindergarten children, residing in the contract districts, have been reminded to check their local school trustees to see if their school district provides transportation. In some districts such transportation is not provided necessitating that the parents transport their own kindergarten students to school.

Principal Riegel also said this morning that in the event kindergarten registration goes beyond its expected number it may be necessary to run two half-day sessions. Parents will be informed of this schedule prior to the opening of school.

his mettle by destroying the anti-Communist opposition. He took part in the Cominform meeting that threw Yugoslavia's Communists out of the Bolshevik family. He helped send Peasant Party leaders to prison.

Ran Into Trouble

But as finance minister, Luca ran into trouble in January of this year. He decreed that old lei were to be exchanged at rates ranging all the way up to 400 old for one new, on a sliding scale. At the same time prices were reduced. The result was chaotic.

Before currency reform, the average Romanian worker earned 6,000-7,000 lei a month. Prices before currency reform were like this: A man's suit, rationed, up to 8,975 lei, or up to 19,000 on the free market; rationed shoes for women, up to 4,800 and a little higher for men's; rationed sugar, 56 lei a kilo and 200 on the free market; jam, 240 a kilo, and so forth.

No Wage Increases

There were no wage increases with currency reform, but prices were reduced 5-20 per cent. Bread, beef, and footwear for adults went down 5-10 per cent. The result was a rude jolt for the workers. There was a humming undercurrent of indignation. Luca was fired. But the worker is still being sadly exploited.

The currency reform evidently had been dictated by the Moscow bosses who sit in on the Romanian Communist government. Each Romanian ministry has a Soviet "counsellor" who has more power than the minister himself.

Major problems of government are submitted to Moscow.

The Russians also direct the army. The Soviet parade step has been introduced by special Soviet inspectors. Soldiers find the peculiar march step difficult. Soviet officers boss the Romanian army, but consider it unreliable.

Have Taken Over Youth

They have taken over the nation's youth, too. The Young Workers Union (UTM) is a mass organization of the Communists to control youth. Only UTM members can hope for higher education.

Romanian children at 14 are considered ready for manual labor. If a child is of "bourgeois" origin, he likely will be sent into manual labor rather than to secondary school.

The youngsters chafe at Communist discipline. There are jokes like this: Two men are sitting in a restaurant. The first man says "Hmm." "Yes," says the second man. The first man rises angrily: "If you're going to talk politics, I'm leaving."

The Russians are pushing the Romanian Communists into a speedup of collectivizing farms, but the peasants are resisting, despite confiscations and cruel taxes. A mighty bureaucracy presides over Romanian agriculture.

New Wave Reported

Today there are reports of a new wave of deportations in the making, the Association of Romanian Journalists, an exile group with headquarters in New York, reports: In the past few months mass deportations from Bucharest have been resumed, with city people being sent to remote places and labor camps to make room for new industrial workers, Communist functionaries and Russians. Last November all identity and ration cards were called in by the Bucharest police and returned with special markings. At the end of February the Communist party decreed Bucharest was to become a "workers city" from which all "unproductive people" would be deported. The association says the goal is to expel as many as 200,000 persons from Bucharest and to extend the deportations to other large Romanian cities. The explusions are said to be on Soviet orders, to eliminate "unreliable elements," make housing available for industrial workers and functionaries, cut down on urban consumption of food and supply manpower for slave labor programs.

Senate Approves Bill

Washington, May 8 (AP)—A federal mine safety bill with all the sharp teeth John L. Lewis has been asking for years has received the Senate's approval. The bill, passed yesterday on a voice vote, now goes to the House, where a somewhat similar measure is already awaiting action. If, in the end, two versions emerge the differences will be worked out by Senate-House conferees. The bill steered through the Senate by Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) gives the federal government power to enforce safety recommendations of the Bureau of Mines' inspectors. These inspectors now may merely make safety recommendations. Enforcement is left entirely with the states.

Public Welfare... Questions, Answers

In view of increasing public interest in public welfare matters, the Ulster County Children's Committee of the State Charities Aid Association, an independent citizens group, presents the following question and answer as part of its program of providing information on tax-supported welfare activities.

Why are so many people on home relief when there are so many jobs?

Only a small percentage of these people are employable. Most of them are ill or otherwise incapacitated. Even so, home relief loads have generally declined during the past year.

Additional questions about public welfare activities may be sent to the committee through Mrs. Albert E. Milliken,, R.R. 3, Kingston. Mrs. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz is chairman of the committee.

Appeal Is Planned

Tallahassee, Fla., May 8 (AP)—Attorneys for the $4,000,000 Sea Isle Hotel at Miami Beach plan to appeal an order to close the hotel for 30 days for allegedly permitting bookmaking on the premises. The attorneys pointed out today that an appeal would mean the luxurious establishment could keep its door open until the courts decide the case. The closing order was issued by the Florida cabinet yesterday after Hotel Commissioner James T. Landon said testimony and circumstantial evidence "leaves no question but that bookmaking was taking place in the cabana of the hotel and that prudent and normal management should have been aware of it."

To Use Own Funds

New York, May 8 (AP) — The AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) has decided to use its own funds to finance a $7½ million mortgage for a cooperative housing development under union sponsorship on the lower east side of Manhattan. A source in the union, one of the nation's richest labor groups, said yesterday the decision was made after word was received that the mortgage loan could be insured by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Up to now, the ILGWU has kept all its $125 million of general welfare funds in government bonds. The union has nearly 200,000 members in the New York metropolitan area.

President Has Birthday

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Truman is 68 today. "I feel 28," he told reporters. His physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, said that, despite the burdens he has carried during his seven crisis-studded years in the White House, the President's health and wellbeing are "even above the average of men of his age who have not been under similar strain." No special observance was planned.

French Reds Give Orders

Paris, May 8 (AP)—The French Communist Party issued orders today to Communists throughout the nation to organize protest demonstrations against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Ridgway is due in Paris May 25 to take over as supreme commander of allied powers in Europe. Said the Paris Communist Federation: "He arrives dripping with the martyred blood of Korean and Chinese women, children and the aged, against whom he has committed the most awful barbarian crimes. He is the war criminal that the world forever will call 'The Germ Killer.'"

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 7—The matter of the disposition of the Ashokan schoolhouse, or former Olive District 4 property, is scheduled to come before the voters of the district Tuesday evening, May 13, at the schoolhouse. This is a special meeting called by the Onteora Central School board for the purpose of acting and voting upon the matter. The Olive American Legion Post as stated here previously, is desirous of acquiring the two-room structure for use as post and auxiliary headquarters.

If the amount of pleasure given to others counts high in the final summing up for rewards eternal, then Mrs. Bradley Thompson of Margaretville ought to rate with the Biblical "chosen few." Mrs. Bradley is retiring, as of May 1, from her duties at the Galli-Curci Theatre where for the past 28 years she has worked behind the popcorn machine, and though not fond of popcorn herself, has passed out possibly a million boxes of that popular movie eatable.

Callers here last week included the Alphus Shumans, senior and junior timber buyers and loggers of the Zena area who formerly resided at West Shokan.

Mrs. J. Byrne, one time Ashokan resident and local Democratic political worker, is reported to be convalescing at her Kingston home following a hospital operation.

Birthdays Thursday, May 8, include that of Mrs. Archie Elmendorf of Kingston. The former Susie Morris was brought up in this section, a daughter of John and Amelia (Markle) Morris. She and her husband, who is also a native of Olive, have a daughter, Mildred.

Steel Ban Is Lifted

Washington, May 8 (AP) — The government today lifted its ban on shipment of steel from warehouses. The freeze was clamped on April 29 to preserve steel supplies for vital defense projects. The order went out a few hours after CIO President Philip Murray called a strike against the steel industry. Production was halted for three days and then the workers returned to their jobs after an appeal from President Truman. The strike started immediately after a District Court ruling that government seizure of the steel mills was illegal. The ruling has been stayed pending a Supreme Court review.

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to the family.

The board stood adjourned to the memory of McEntee, subject to the call of the chair. Prior to adjournment the members of the board at the request of Chairman Denniston, stood in silent tribute to the deceased.

Steel Ban Is Lifted

Washington, May 8 (AP) — The government today lifted its ban on shipment of steel from warehouses. The freeze was clamped on April 29 to preserve steel supplies for vital defense projects. The order went out a few hours after CIO President Philip Murray called a strike against the steel industry. Production was halted for three days and then the workers returned to their jobs after an appeal from President Truman. The strike started immediately after a District Court ruling that government seizure of the steel mills was illegal. The ruling has been stayed pending a Supreme Court review.

Crittenberger, commanding general of the First Army, the Bronze Star Medal with V device, awarded posthumously to Sgt. Henry Schmidt, Jr., their son, for heroic achievement in Korea. Presentation was made in the office of the commanding general, Governors Island. Sgt. Schmidt was cited for his heroism on November 30, 1950, in the Somin-dong area, when his company penetrated a roadblock and suffered heavy casualties. He refused to leave wounded comrades, remaining with them at the risk of his own life from heavy mortar, automatic weapons and small arms fire. (U. S. Army photo)

Free Licenses for Dogs

Hong Kong (AP)—Dogs serving with Her Majesty's armed forces will get free licenses from now on. The government order, however, was not all-inclusive. It specified that the dogs must actually be serving. Troop mascots will have to have paid licenses.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Know How to Bid And You'll Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in the recent Eastern States tournament, the opening bid was one club at all tables. North almost invariably passed this opening bid, whereupon East reopened the bidding with a double.

The rest of the bidding was quite difficult for East and West. It usually is, in this situation, because when an opening bid is passed the fourth player almost always reopens the bidding. Hence the fourth player's strength is not clearly marked, and the partnership often flounders.

In this case, one pair reached four hearts with the East-West cards, and two pairs reached game in no-trump. The rest played the hand at some part score contract in hearts or in no-trump.

The bidding presented no such problem when North (unwisely, in my opinion) decided to make a shaded response. If East now decided to enter the bidding, his strength would be very clear instead of doubtful. East and West would therefore have no trouble bidding a game if that seemed their best course.

Opening lead—♥ J

At one table, where North took liberties with his miserable cards, East collected far more than the value of game by doubling one no-trump. West was delighted to pass, and now South was firmly established in the soup.

West opened the jack of hearts, and East won with the ace. A heart return enabled West to run the rest of the suit. East discarded the deuce and three of spades on the hearts, so West shifted to diamonds.

East decided that South was not solid in the black suits, so he let dummy hold the lead with the ten of diamonds. Declarer hopefully finessed the queen of spades, but West won with the king and led his remaining diamond. This gave East four diamond tricks, after which South mournfully claimed the last two tricks with his two black aces.

At this table South won only three tricks, suffering a penalty of 1100 points. And if North had only known enough to pass, the odds were about 3 to 1 that East and West would have played the hand below game.

Mother Receives Medal for Hero Son

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt of 107 Fairview avenue receive from Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, commanding general of the First Army, the Bronze Star Medal with V device, awarded posthumously to Sgt. Henry Schmidt, Jr., their son, for heroic achievement in Korea. Presentation was made in the office of the commanding general, Governors Island. Sgt. Schmidt was cited for his heroism on November 30, 1950, in the Somin-dong area, when his company penetrated a roadblock and suffered heavy casualties. He refused to leave wounded comrades, remaining with them at the risk of his own life from heavy mortar, automatic weapons and small arms fire. (U. S. Army photo)

Free Licenses for Dogs

Hong Kong (AP)—Dogs serving with Her Majesty's armed forces will get free licenses from now on. The government order, however, was not all-inclusive. It specified that the dogs must actually be serving. Troop mascots will have to have paid licenses.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Know How to Bid And You'll Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in the recent Eastern States tournament, the opening bid was one club at all tables. North almost invariably passed this opening bid, whereupon East reopened the bidding with a double.

The rest of the bidding was quite difficult for East and West. It usually is, in this situation, because when an opening bid is passed the fourth player almost always reopens the bidding. Hence the fourth player's strength is not clearly marked, and the partnership often flounders.

In this case, one pair reached four hearts with the East-West cards, and two pairs reached game in no-trump. The rest played the hand at some part score contract in hearts or in no-trump.

The bidding presented no such problem when North (unwisely, in my opinion) decided to make a shaded response. If East now decided to enter the bidding, his strength would be very clear instead of doubtful. East and West would therefore have no trouble bidding a game if that seemed their best course.

Opening lead—♥ J

At one table, where North took liberties with his miserable cards, East collected far more than the value of game by doubling one no-trump. West was delighted to pass, and now South was firmly established in the soup.

West opened the jack of hearts, and East won with the ace. A heart return enabled West to run the rest of the suit. East discarded the deuce and three of spades on the hearts, so West shifted to diamonds.

East decided that South was not solid in the black suits, so he let dummy hold the lead with the ten of diamonds. Declarer hopefully finessed the queen of spades, but West won with the king and led his remaining diamond. This gave East four diamond tricks, after which South mournfully claimed the last two tricks with his two black aces.

At this table South won only three tricks, suffering a penalty of 1100 points. And if North had only known enough to pass, the odds were about 3 to 1 that East and West would have played the hand below game.

In School

SGT. LOUIS MILLER

Sgt. Louis A. Miller, son of Mrs. Bernice Miller, 11 Broadway, is attending school at Fort Monmouth, N. J., to qualify as a medical technician according to information received by his mother. Sgt. Miller, a Kingston High School graduate, enlisted in the regular army through the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station in April, 1949. Upon completion of basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., he was transferred to the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., where he remained until ordered overseas to Japan in 1950. After further training in Japan he was reassigned to the Korean front. While serving 11 months in Korea he was awarded the Silver Star and Bronze Star for heroic conduct in combat. He was returned to this country and his present duty station, Fort Monmouth, in July 1951. Sgt. Miller is expected home on leave in the near future.

156th Enlists Three For Guard Service

They are:

Peter R. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Fisher, 67 Elmendorf street. He is a senior at Kingston High School.

Stoppage Is Settled

New York, May 8 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union announced that a 24-hour work stoppage by about 200 American Airlines mechanics at Idlewild Airport and LaGuardia Field was settled late yesterday. The settlement was accomplished, a union spokesman said, when the company reinstated Elbert Matson to his job as foreman. The union said the stoppage — which it claimed caused the cancellation of "several" flights—grew out of demotion of Matson to inspector. No company comment was available.

The use of fire, candles or tobacco was strictly prohibited in the first capitol building in colonial Williamsburg, Va.

Yerry Announces Welfare Plan for AFL Carpenters

A welfare plan to protect the membership of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, AFL, against emergencies caused by accident, sickness or death, was announced today by President George E. Yerry, Jr.

The plan, which will be paid for by employer contribution only, provides for $1,000 life insurance, $1,000 accidental death or dismemberment (24-hour coverage), $35 per week for loss of time due to accident or sickness, $11 a day for hospitalization for a period of 31 days with a $165 miscellaneous provision, $240 for surgical and $25 for diagnostic and X-ray treatment.

The plan will be administered by a board of trustees composed of representatives of management and union. The plan, as established, is within the requirements of the Wage Stablization Board, and it is expected that automatic approval will be granted, Yerry said.

He pointed out that employers in Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware, Greene and Columbia counties would be affected and that all Building Trades members of carpenters unions in that area would be covered. Subject to WSB approval, the plan will be come effective June 1, 1952.

The Kingston Metal Trades Council, AFL, consisting of carpenters, boilermakers, machinists, Federal Labor Union and others have adopted a similar plan, Yerry said. He stated that a union committee had been appointed to negotiate with hospitals in the area to secure their corporation in the plan.

A Queen Asks a Question

Detroit, Mich. (AP)—Queen Juliana got an idea while watching the cars roll by on the Ford production line recently. "Why," she was reported to have asked Henry Ford II, "can't they paint all cars finished the same day in the same color—and a different color the next?" Said Ford, "I never thought of that."

Will Be Given Credit

New York, May 8 (AP)—The State Public Service Commission ruled yesterday that utilities companies will be credited with pension costs as part of their expenses for labor. The decision was in connection with the utilities' moves for rate increases. In ruling on requests for rate increases, the commission is guided by its own system of accounting to determine whether a company's financial status entitles it to charge more.

TYKE LIKES STRIKE — Five-year-old Joyce Cole gives her father, B. R. Cole, some support in the picket line at the main gate of the Wichita Falls, Tex., plant of Continental Oil Co. For Joyce, the strike has meant a chance to spend all day with her father. For workers, however, the strike has meant a loss of $300,000 a day.

Welcome as May

Unless the weatherman double-crosses us, we're going to enjoy some real coats-off weather soon. And the warmer it gets, the more welcome is a glass of cool, refreshing Schaefer Beer.

Here's something interesting about the Schaefer you drink today. We started brewing it when you were still bundled up in winter clothes. Beer of Schaefer quality has to be ripened over a long "lagering," or aging, period. Schaefer realized the value of lagering back in 1842. In fact, we are the oldest brewers of lager beer in the U. S.

So your Schaefer beer has over a century of tradition behind it. That's why—though it is light and clear as a modern brew should be—it has character and true beer flavor.

make it clear... make it Schaefer BEER

New York, May 8 (AP)—The State Public Service Commission ruled yesterday that utilities companies will be credited with pension costs as part of their expenses for labor. The decision was in connection with the utilities' moves for rate increases. In ruling on requests for rate increases, the commission is guided by its own system of accounting to determine whether a company's financial status entitles it to charge more.

TYKE LIKES STRIKE — Five-year-old Joyce Cole gives her father, B. R. Cole, some support in the picket line at the main gate of the Wichita Falls, Tex., plant of Continental Oil Co. For Joyce, the strike has meant a chance to spend all day with her father. For workers, however, the strike has meant a loss of $300,000 a day.

Stoppage Is Settled

New York, May 8 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union announced that a 24-hour work stoppage by about 200 American Airlines mechanics at Idlewild Airport and LaGuardia Field was settled late yesterday. The settlement was accomplished, a union spokesman said, when the company reinstated Elbert Matson to his job as foreman. The union said the stoppage — which it claimed caused the cancellation of "several" flights—grew out of demotion of Matson to inspector. No company comment was available.

The use of fire, candles or tobacco was strictly prohibited in the first capitol building in colonial Williamsburg, Va.

Yerry Announces Welfare Plan for AFL Carpenters

A welfare plan to protect the membership of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, AFL, against emergencies caused by accident, sickness or death, was announced today by President George E. Yerry, Jr.

The plan, which will be paid for by employer contribution only, provides for $1,000 life insurance, $1,000 accidental death or dismemberment (24-hour coverage), $35 per week for loss of time due to accident or sickness, $11 a day for hospitalization for a period of 31 days with a $165 miscellaneous provision, $240 for surgical and $25 for diagnostic and X-ray treatment.

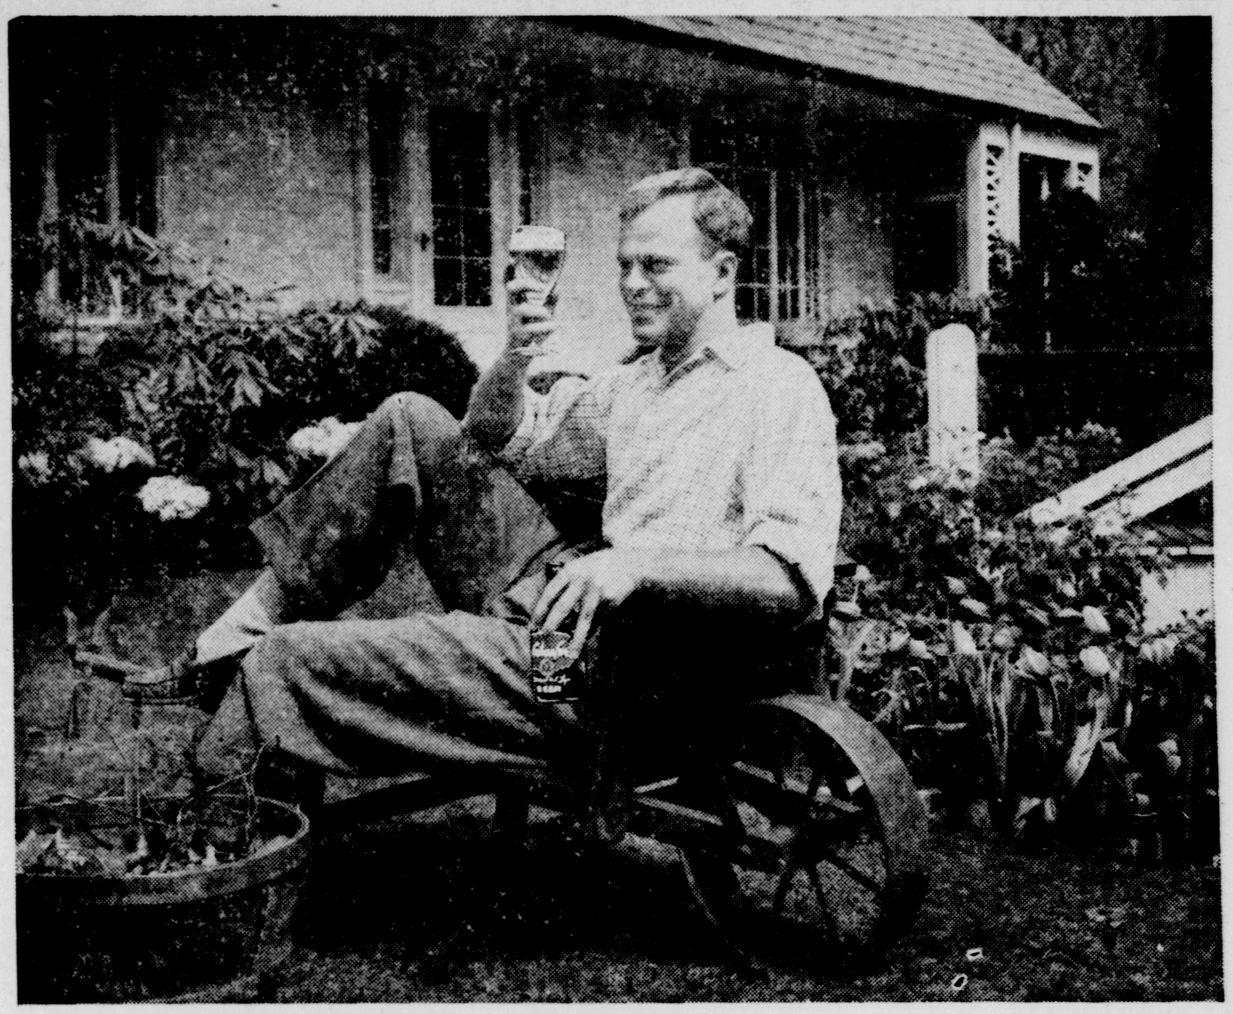
The plan will be administered by a board of trustees composed of representatives of management and union. The plan, as established, is within the requirements of the Wage Stablization Board, and it is expected that automatic approval will be granted, Yerry said.

He pointed out that employers in Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware, Greene and Columbia counties would be affected and that all Building Trades members of carpenters unions in that area would be covered. Subject to WSB approval, the plan will be come effective June 1, 1952.

The Kingston Metal Trades Council, AFL, consisting of carpenters, boilermakers, machinists, Federal Labor Union and others have adopted a similar plan, Yerry said. He stated that a union committee had been appointed to negotiate with hospitals in the area to secure their corporation in the plan.

A Queen Asks a Question

Detroit, Mich. (AP)—Queen Juliana got an idea while watching the cars roll by on the Ford production line recently. "Why," she was reported to have asked Henry Ford II, "can't they paint all cars finished the same day in the same color—and a different color the next?" Said Ford, "I never thought of that."



Welcome as May

Unless the weatherman double-crosses us, we're going to enjoy some real coats-off weather soon. And the warmer it gets, the more welcome is a glass of cool, refreshing Schaefer Beer.

Here's something interesting about the Schaefer you drink today. We started brewing it when you were still bundled up in winter clothes. Beer of Schaefer quality has to be ripened over a long "lagering," or aging, period. Schaefer realized the value of lagering back in 1842. In fact, we are the oldest brewers of lager beer in the U. S.

So your Schaefer beer has over a century of tradition behind it. That's why—though it is light and clear as a modern brew should be—it has character and true beer flavor.

Mrs. James Abernethy and Mrs. Thomas Connelly were the hostesses for the meeting. (Freeman Photo).

Junior DAR Elects Officers, Hears Talk On Cerebral Palsy

The Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daugthers of the American Revolution, elected officers to serve for 1952-53, following its annual spring dinner Monday evening at Judie's. Mrs. Charlotte A. Peck, director of the local Cerebral Palsy Center, was the guest speaker.

Miss Winifred Kimball was chosen to serve as chairman; Mrs. Walter L. Schussler, vice-chairman; Mrs. Ralph E. Post, secretary; Miss Virginia Curtis, treasurer, while Mrs. Clair S. Sheaffer will act as senior advisor to the group during the next year.

Cerebral Palsy is not a disease, Mrs. Peck explained in her opening remarks. "It is a neuro-muscular disorder resulting from damage to the motor-area of the brain. About 80 per cent of those afflicted are born with cerebral palsy. However, it is a possible for anyone to become so afflicted through extremely high fevers, accidents; and in the case of many soldiers, through head wounds received in combat," she said.

Many Not Treated

The speaker noted that until about four years ago, very little was done to rehabilitate cerebral palsy victims. At present, the local center has a case load of 33 children, ranging in age from 9 months to 18 years. Mrs. Peck said there are many more afflicted children and young adults in the city and county who are not receiving treatment because the local center does not have funds, personnel or transportation facilities to care for them.

The local center now employs one physical therapist whose efforts are to teach the children directed control of motion. "This is a long, slow process and requires extreme patience," said Mrs. Peck. When sufficient funds are available, the local center hopes to employ a speech therapist.

Insufficient Funds

Mrs. Peck pointed out that 77 per cent of campaign funds are used in the county for the direct benefit of the children; four per cent goes for state and national organizational work, and the balance is used for research. "At present, cerebral palsy cannot be cured, but it can be helped," she said. Only eight out of every 100 of the 500,000 palsied persons in the United States are receiving any help today.

Mrs. Ralph D. Harper, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. C. Franklin Pierce, sang Iris, What's in the Air Today, and Down in the Forest.

Future Nurses Receive Nightingale Lamp From Hospital Trustees

Nightingale Lamp Is Symbolic, KHS Future Nurses' Club Told

The symbolism of the Nightingale lamp was described by Miss Evelyn N. Morse, RN, at a presentation by John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., president and acting for the board of trustees of the Kingston Hospital, to the Future Nurses of America Club of Kingston High School at its closing meeting for this year Tuesday.

Guests Welcomed

Miss Elsie Proper, president of the club, welcomed the guests, speakers and members. The guests included Miss Almena A. Porter, RN, director of nurses at the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing; Mrs. Marie NcNierney, RN, instructor in Red Cross home nursing; John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., president of the board of trustees, Kingston Hospital; members of the Red Cross Club and the dental assistant group of the school.

In her talk on symbolism, Miss Morse told how the single tiny lamp used by Florence Nightingale to light her way, as she made her night rounds in the hospital wards at Scutari in the Crimea, was the beginning of a new ideal in nursing.

Keeps Ideals Alive

"Upon her return from the war, she began the work which has not ended to this day and will continue for many years to come. With each passing year, many thousands of lamps are being lighted by young nurses enrolled in schools of nursing all over the world. They have kept the ideal of nursing alive and brightly burning through the past and will continue to hold high, the proud work of the nursing profession in the future," said Miss Morse.

Miss Marlene Cashin, a charter member of the club, gave a brief history of its activities. It was organized with 24 members at the Myron J. Michael School in the fall of 1949. Miss Ione Kinkade and Miss Morse have been the club sponsors since its beginning. Programs including guest speakers, field trips and a class in home nursing have been some of the interesting projects of the club. Parties at the Children's Home have been an annual feature. This year, the club membership is 90. Mrs. Doris Fogg, RN, school nurse, is also a club sponsor this year.

Annual Tribute

A short talk on the life of Florence Nightingale was given by Miss Melinda Keyes. She spoke of the work done in the Crimea, the first modern school of nursing at St. Thomas' Hospital in London and the difficulties encountered by Miss Nightingale in establishing her nursing school.

Due to her untiring efforts, said Miss Keyes, the profession of nursing became a source of intelligent, well-trained, skillful women to care for the sick of all nations. National Hospital Day is now designated as May 12, the date of Miss Nightingale's birth, when annual tribute is paid to the success of her work.

Club Congratulated

The Nightingale lamp was presented to Elsie Proper by Miss Porter. She congratulated the club on its activities and wished them future success in keeping with the tradition of the lamp. She also presented a copy of the Nightingale Pledge. The scroll was made by the students of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing and given with best wishes for the club.

The poem, Santa Filomena, written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow as a tribute to work done in the Crimea by Florence Nightingale was read by Adeline Cates.

A talk by John Martin, principal, concluded the program. His remarks dealt with the work performed by nurses to make life pleasanter and happier for those who are ill, and compared the earlier days of the profession with those of the present. "In spite of the modern techniques and education," he said, "the tradition of the lamp still remains to enrich the profession of nursing."

Mrs. John H. Saxe Presents Paper for Little Gardens Club

Mrs. John H. Saxe presented a paper entitled Our Native Land at a meeting Friday afternoon of the Little Gardens Club held in the home of Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmont avenue. Mrs. William Taylor was co-hostess.

Because of its varied scenery, Mrs. Saxe elaborated on the state of South Carolina. She described the beautiful and novel effect of the rice plantations submerged except for the green tops, and the optical illusion presented by the marshes which appear to be level and stretching back 70 miles from the coast, while in reality, there are many bluffs crowned with delicate foliage.

"Port Royal was the scene of the first settlement in South Carolina," the speaker said, and "was therefore the first cousin to Plymouth Rock in Massachusetts." The development of South Carolina since the time it was an English province until the present day, was outlined by Mrs. Saxe.

Rice plantations, methods of cultivation, and other pertinent information was included in the interesting and educational presentation.

American League Hires Scotty Robb, Disciplined Ump; 'Happy to Return'

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—Umpire Douglas W. "Scotty" Robb, formerly of the National League, has been snapped up by the American League—the quickest change of sides by an arbitrator in major baseball history.

Forty-eight hours after Robb, a four-year veteran of the senior circuit's call-'em-as-you-see-'em set, resigned following a fine and disciplinary action by league president Warren Giles, he was hired by Will Harridge, bos of the American loop.

"Robb is the kind of gentleman we like to have on our umpiring staff," said Harridge after hiring Robb yesterday via long distance telephone at his home in Cedar Grove, N. J. "We needed another umpire and considered Robb a good one."

Robb, slicked out in full dress as an American League umpire, which includes a suit coat instead of just a blue shirt as worn in the National, will make his debut in his new job in the White Sox-Boston Red Sox game at Comiskey Park Tuesday night.

Fined by Giles

Robb was accused of shoving Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals in a game at Cincinnati April 22. Giles fined him and disciplined him, announcing it to the public.

Stanky was tapped for $50 and Cardinal shortstop Solly Hemus, who started the altercation by tossing his bat in the air when he was called out on strike, was fined $25.

Robb resigned Monday.

"I am happy to be back in baseball," Robb said yesterday after Harridge put him on the AL payroll. "When Mr. Harridge approached me with an offer I was so choked up I couldn't talk for a minute or two."

Before taking action, Harridge phoned Giles and established that Robb was a free agent—a formal step in a gentlemen's agreement between the two leagues in negotiations of this type.

At his Cincinnati headquarters, Giles, in his first year as head of the National League, said, "I'm very glad Robb has found employment. . . . He could have continued in our league. . . . He is a good umpire, but under the circumstances he probably will be happier in the American League."

"At least Robb will get $600 more in expense money for the season from the American League," quipped Dizzy Dean, who was in Chicago for a broadcast.

Giants Purchase Bucs' Howerton

St. Louis, May 8 (AP)—The New York Giants, who will lose centerfielder Willie Mays to the army in 10 days, had another outfielder on their roster today but where he'll fit in no one seems to know.

The defending National League champions bought George Howerton for the waiver price of $10,000 yesterday from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Giant Manager Leo Durocher made no bones about the fact that he was happy over the transaction.

"I don't know yet just where Howerton will fit in," said Durocher. All I know is I'm glad to have him. He does everything well and I know he can handle the centerfield berth. He can run and throw and he can hit pretty good, too. For one thing, he'll make a fine pinch-hitter."

But there were hints of the Giants having pulled a shrewd deal.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph had this to say about the purchase:

"Inasmuch as the other six clubs of the league had a chance to grab Howerton before the Giants' draft claim could be made valid, there were whisperings that Durocher and Horace Stoneham had put through a slick deal and had paid at least twice as much as the waiver price for Howerton."

Sees No Difficulty

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The winner of the 72-hole Greenbrief Open starting today is going to have to shoot really sub-par golf, says Max Faulkner, globe-trotting British Open champ. After comparing the 6,368-yard Old White course with links of several countries he has played, Faulkner feels the par 70 for 18 holes should be easy to beat. "The first nine is quite an easy par 34 and the back nine 36 is not very difficult," declared the Britisher. "There is no green you can't get on in two strokes without too much trouble."

Merchants to Drill

The Colonial Merchants of the City League will hold a practice at the Athletic Field at 5:30 p. m. today, it has been announced by Bill "Pucker" Davis.

Rickey's Return To Cards Denied

New York, May 8 (AP)—There was a report today that Branch Rickey is slated to return to St. Louis as owner of the Cardinals, but it met hasty denial.

Fred Saigh, president and owner of the Cards, said, "I have not heard of any such possibility." Rickey himself was off on a speaking trip and unavailable for comment.

Dan Parker, sports editor of the New York Daily Mirror, wrote that "baseball circles are buzzing with the report "that Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will make a bid for Saigh's stock if Saigh's income tax difficulties should result in his leaving baseball.

"Considering the poor results that have attended his (Rickey's) efforts in Pittsburgh, it is believed that he would have no trouble in being released from his contract to rejoin the ranks of the club owners," Parker said. ....

Davey Outpoints Vejar in Breeze

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—There is no doubt that Chico Vejar, the New York University pugilistic prodigy, has the heart of a lion, but last night he looked like a lamb led to slaughter.

It was deceptive Chuck Davey's southpaw style, and ballet-dancer footwork, that guillotined the 20-year-old dramatic arts freshman who would have done better as Hamlet.

Beaten only once in 42 previous bouts, Vejar was as wide open to Davey's left hooks as a prepared oyster, and about as sloppy.

The kid was knocked down four times. But that's nothing new to him. In five other scraps he had been floored and courageously arose to win.

Vejar arose last night with amazing stamina and kept coming back for more of undefeated Davey's left that bloodied his nose, his mouth and his cheek and must have looked as big as a steamroller coming in at him as the bloodshed progressed through 10 rounds.

Before 8,773 Chicago Stadium fans and others on television and radio, Davey proved by his easy victory his worth as a foremost contender for Cuba Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

The International Boxing Club, knowing full well that it has a hit on its hands in Davey, the 26-year-old holder of a master's degree from Michigan State, promptly began preparations for a championship showdown between the two for Chicago this summer.

In the meantime Davey will be unable to go through his May 15 fight with Carmen Basillio in Syracuse, N. Y., as ordered by the Illinois and New York Boxing Commissions.

He received gashes around each eye from Vejar's long swinging shots and will have to have some stitching.

Bob Herzog and Harry Hines divided top honors in the individual shooting last night, each clicking for 566 triples. Herzog fired 207-176-183 while Hines posted 189-187-190.

Joe "Bush" Sangi was third high with 559 while Ray Zeeh hit 200-558; Chris Robinson 553; Bill Johnson 542; R. Lawrence 532; J. Provenzano 531.

Bosox Off Fast, Only Three Set In Regular Role

Boston, May 8 (AP)—Lou Boudreau has the Boston Red Sox off to their fastest start since their 1946 pennant-winning season. But regardless of that, he regards only one player as a regular fixture and but two of his 13 pitchers as full-fledged starters.

The veteran Dom DiMaggio continues to hold sway in center field and two southpaws, the veteran Mel Parnell and young Bill Henry, have qualified for Boudreau's pitching "big four."

With 19 games decided, the Red Sox are heading the American League with a game to spare on the highly regarded Cleveland Indians. A year ago today, under Steve O'Neill, they were running fifth, as they were in 1948 under Joe McCarthy and in 1947 with Joe Cronin at the helm.

At this stage two years ago, the sockers stood second, one game behind the pace-setters.

Naturally, Boudreau is thrilled by the dash and fire of his Ted Williams-less forces. "But 19 games don't make a season," he points out.

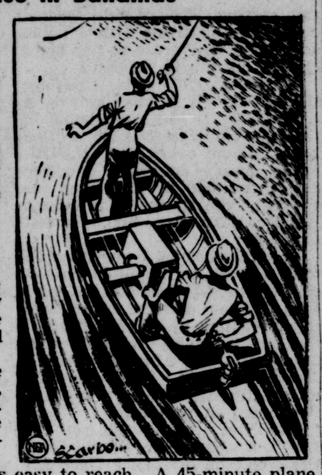
Fishing Paradise in Bahamas

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)



Walker Cay in the Bahamas is one of the world's best fishing spots. Like any other arena of this calibre, it has much to recommend it besides the fish.

My guide took me out in a glass bottomed boat the other day, and as my lure dropped through the water, he told me what kind of fish the bait was passing, how big it was, and whether I should let the lure sink further for a more desirable species.

You could look down and see horse-eye jack, yellowtail, gray snapper, mutton, and mangrove snapper, amberjack, grouper and a string of barracuda.

As the boat moved on, we passed doctor fish, trigger fish, sharks, rays, and porcupine fish. It was like fishing in a huge aquarium—the water diamond-clear and deceptively deep.

Walker Cay is isolated, yet it's easy to reach. A 45-minute plane ride from West Palm Beach puts you atop a 90-acre coral island.

There's no such thing as pesky insects, because the island is high for the Bahamas, with an elevation of about 80 feet. The rates, on the other hand, are comparatively low. Dishes like Bahamian fish pie, conch fritters, and craw-fish salad are part of a culinary education.

Aside from the reef fishing, there's top draw big-game fishing, and plenty of bonefish on the flats. If you stay long enough, you'll get soaked in pirate treasure and malahcology (shell collecting) which we learned under the tutelage of a 13-year-old native boy who had more savvy than a Harvard Ph.D.

The peculiar coral formations and lack of fishing pressure have made this area a fantastic fishing spot. I spent my time standing in the bow of an inboard casting a spinning lure ahead of the boat.

The object is to get the lure ahead of the boat, letting it sink, and by the time the boat is over the bait, you can reel straight up and see the fun. My quota in a half hour was six yellow-tail snapper (one of the best eating fish in the ocean), two horse-eye jacks, and a big old mutton snapper.

Then I hooked a yellowtail of about three pounds, and suddenly a giant grouper detached himself from the coral and lazily cruised up to swallow my fish.

For 20 minutes I worked the rod frantically, trying to loosen the yellowtail from the grouper, or the grouper from the bottom. The grouper must have decided that my fish wasn't worth the effort, and went off to get one of his own.

Thes big groupers, incidentally, will take any kind of an artificial lure, and even though most of them are far too heavy to handle, it's fun to think about.

NBA Criticizes Robinson-Maxim Title Engagement

New York, May 8 (AP)—The chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission shrugged off NBA opposition to the Ray Robinson-Joey Maxim bout today and proceeded to tie up loose ends of what he calls the "fight of the century."

"Could it be that this criticism stems from the fact that the bout is not being held in NBA territory?" asked Chairman Robert K. Christenberry.

The NBA—National Boxing Association, which governs the sport in every state except New York—issued a blast after the principals formally signed yesterday to meet June 23 at Yankee Stadium.

Maxim, is the light heavyweight champion. His title will be at stake in the 15-round battle with Robinson, former welterweight and now middleweight king who aspires to become the third man in history to head three divisions.

The NBA announced in Washington that it frowned on such interclass bouts, declaring the champions should first defeat all logical contenders in their divisions.

In Robinson's case, the NBA said, the middleweight champ should meet Randy Turpin of England, Gene Hairston of New York and Charles Humez of France. Contenders listed for Maxim were Archie Moore of St. Louis, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Harry Matthews of Seattle.

"There was no such excitement when Robinson fought Rocky Graziano or when Maxim fought Charles (former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles)," Christenberry said.

The commissioner has another problem on his hands before the Robinson-Maxim bout can be given a green light.

Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for the Eastern Parkway arena in New York, contends he has Robinson under contract to meet Billy Brown of Hartford, Conn., in a non-title fight at the Brooklyn Arena May 26. He doesn't like the idea of losing out on the deal.

He took the matter before the commission yesterday and Christenberry promised an early decision.

Care in Waxing Floors

If you use wax on your floors, apply it sparingly and rub down to a dry hard finish. Too much wax or too little buffing makes floors slippery.

Davey Outpoints Vejar in Breeze

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—There is no doubt that Chico Vejar, the New York University pugilistic prodigy, has the heart of a lion, but last night he looked like a lamb led to slaughter.

It was deceptive Chuck Davey's southpaw style, and ballet-dancer footwork, that guillotined the 20-year-old dramatic arts freshman who would have done better as Hamlet.

Beaten only once in 42 previous bouts, Vejar was as wide open to Davey's left hooks as a prepared oyster, and about as sloppy.

The kid was knocked down four times. But that's nothing new to him. In five other scraps he had been floored and courageously arose to win.

Vejar arose last night with amazing stamina and kept coming back for more of undefeated Davey's left that bloodied his nose, his mouth and his cheek and must have looked as big as a steamroller coming in at him as the bloodshed progressed through 10 rounds.

Before 8,773 Chicago Stadium fans and others on television and radio, Davey proved by his easy victory his worth as a foremost contender for Cuba Kid Gavilan's welterweight title.

The International Boxing Club, knowing full well that it has a hit on its hands in Davey, the 26-year-old holder of a master's degree from Michigan State, promptly began preparations for a championship showdown between the two for Chicago this summer.

In the meantime Davey will be unable to go through his May 15 fight with Carmen Basillio in Syracuse, N. Y., as ordered by the Illinois and New York Boxing Commissions.

He received gashes around each eye from Vejar's long swinging shots and will have to have some stitching.

The Paradise keglers copped the odd set from Saegen's Jewelers to nail down the bunting. With only three games left to play, the Paradise trundlers hold a four-game edge over the second place team.

Bob Herzog and Harry Hines divided top honors in the individual shooting last night, each clicking for 566 triples. Herzog fired 207-176-183 while Hines posted 189-187-190.

Joe "Bush" Sangi was third high with 559 while Ray Zeeh hit 200-558; Chris Robinson 553; Bill Johnson 542; R. Lawrence 532; J. Provenzano 531.

Bosox Off Fast, Only Three Set In Regular Role

Boston, May 8 (AP)—Lou Boudreau has the Boston Red Sox off to their fastest start since their 1946 pennant-winning season. But regardless of that, he regards only one player as a regular fixture and but two of his 13 pitchers as full-fledged starters.

The veteran Dom DiMaggio continues to hold sway in center field and two southpaws, the veteran Mel Parnell and young Bill Henry, have qualified for Boudreau's pitching "big four."

With 19 games decided, the Red Sox are heading the American League with a game to spare on the highly regarded Cleveland Indians. A year ago today, under Steve O'Neill, they were running fifth, as they were in 1948 under Joe McCarthy and in 1947 with Joe Cronin at the helm.

At this stage two years ago, the sockers stood second, one game behind the pace-setters.

Naturally, Boudreau is thrilled by the dash and fire of his Ted Williams-less forces. "But 19 games don't make a season," he points out.

Fishing Paradise in Bahamas

By AL McCLANE
(Fishing Editor)

Walker Cay in the Bahamas is one of the world's best fishing spots. Like any other arena of this calibre, it has much to recommend it besides the fish.

My guide took me out in a glass bottomed boat the other day, and as my lure dropped through the water, he told me what kind of fish the bait was passing, how big it was, and whether I should let the lure sink further for a more desirable species.

You could look down and see horse-eye jack, yellowtail, gray snapper, mutton, and mangrove snapper, amberjack, grouper and a string of barracuda.

As the boat moved on, we passed doctor fish, trigger fish, sharks, rays, and porcupine fish. It was like fishing in a huge aquarium—the water diamond-clear and deceptively deep.

Walker Cay is isolated, yet it's easy to reach. A 45-minute plane ride from West Palm Beach puts you atop a 90-acre coral island.

There's no such thing as pesky insects, because the island is high for the Bahamas, with an elevation of about 80 feet. The rates, on the other hand, are comparatively low. Dishes like Bahamian fish pie, conch fritters, and craw-fish salad are part of a culinary education.

Aside from the reef fishing, there's top draw big-game fishing, and plenty of bonefish on the flats. If you stay long enough, you'll get soaked in pirate treasure and malahcology (shell collecting) which we learned under the tutelage of a 13-year-old native boy who had more savvy than a Harvard Ph.D.

The peculiar coral formations and lack of fishing pressure have made this area a fantastic fishing spot. I spent my time standing in the bow of an inboard casting a spinning lure ahead of the boat.

The object is to get the lure ahead of the boat, letting it sink, and by the time the boat is over the bait, you can reel straight up and see the fun. My quota in a half hour was six yellow-tail snapper (one of the best eating fish in the ocean), two horse-eye jacks, and a big old mutton snapper.

Then I hooked a yellowtail of about three pounds, and suddenly a giant grouper detached himself from the coral and lazily cruised up to swallow my fish.

For 20 minutes I worked the rod frantically, trying to loosen the yellowtail from the grouper, or the grouper from the bottom. The grouper must have decided that my fish wasn't worth the effort, and went off to get one of his own.

Thes big groupers, incidentally, will take any kind of an artificial lure, and even though most of them are far too heavy to handle, it's fun to think about.

NBA Criticizes Robinson-Maxim Title Engagement

New York, May 8 (AP)—The chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission shrugged off NBA opposition to the Ray Robinson-Joey Maxim bout today and proceeded to tie up loose ends of what he calls the "fight of the century."

"Could it be that this criticism stems from the fact that the bout is not being held in NBA territory?" asked Chairman Robert K. Christenberry.

The NBA—National Boxing Association, which governs the sport in every state except New York—issued a blast after the principals formally signed yesterday to meet June 23 at Yankee Stadium.

Maxim is the light heavyweight champion. His title will be at stake in the 15-round battle with Robinson, former welterweight and now middleweight king who aspires to become the third man in history to head three divisions.

The NBA announced in Washington that it frowned on such interclass bouts, declaring the champions should first defeat all logical contenders in their divisions.

In Robinson's case, the NBA said, the middleweight champ should meet Randy Turpin of England, Gene Hairston of New York and Charles Humez of France. Contenders listed for Maxim were Archie Moore of St. Louis, Harold Johnson of Philadelphia and Harry Matthews of Seattle.

"There was no such excitement when Robinson fought Rocky Graziano or when Maxim fought Charles (former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles)," Christenberry said.

The commissioner has another problem on his hands before the Robinson-Maxim bout can be given a green light.

Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for the Eastern Parkway arena in New York, contends he has Robinson under contract to meet Billy Brown of Hartford, Conn., in a non-title fight at the Brooklyn Arena May 26. He doesn't like the idea of losing out on the deal.

He took the matter before the commission yesterday and Christenberry promised an early decision.

Jackie Jensen Big Factor in 6-2 Win

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bucky Harris and his Yankee refugees are licking their chops over a six-game Washington win streak while the world champ Yankees squirm in the second division.

Ever since the "big deal" sent Jackie Jensen, Archie Wilson and Spec Shea to Washington for Irv Noren, the ex-Yanks have been hitting and pitching like crazy.

Since they traded New York flannels for Washington, Wilson has hit .526, Jensen .450 and Shea has pitched 1-0.

Jensen cashed in two more hits last night in the Senators' 6-2 romp over feeble Detroit. The veteran Sid Hudson didn't need much help behind his five-hit effort.

Tribe Tops Yanks

While the Senators continued to spree, the Yanks still were shaking their heads over the strange sight of two straight Cleveland wins at Yankee Stadium. Mike Garcia got home with a 7-2 victory over the Yanks although nicked for 12 hits.

The Indians needed that decision to stick one game behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox who crushed Chicago, 7-2, on southpaw Bill Henry's pitching and batting. The rookie backed up his five-hit work with a triple and single that drove in two runs. It was his fourth straight.

Philadelphia's Alex Kellner shoved the St. Louis Browns a little closer to their old home in the second division with a fine 1-0 triumph over Earl Harrist. Eddie Joost's double, a sacrifice and an outfield fly accounted for the only run in the first inning. Kellner gave five hits, Harrist only four.

Brooklyn headed home from its first western trip, still in possession of the National League lead, with the help of some strong arm relief pitching by Johnny Rutherford in their 5-4 triumph over Cincinnati. The righthanded rookie from St. Paul came on after lefthanded Chris Van Cuyk floundered in the third.

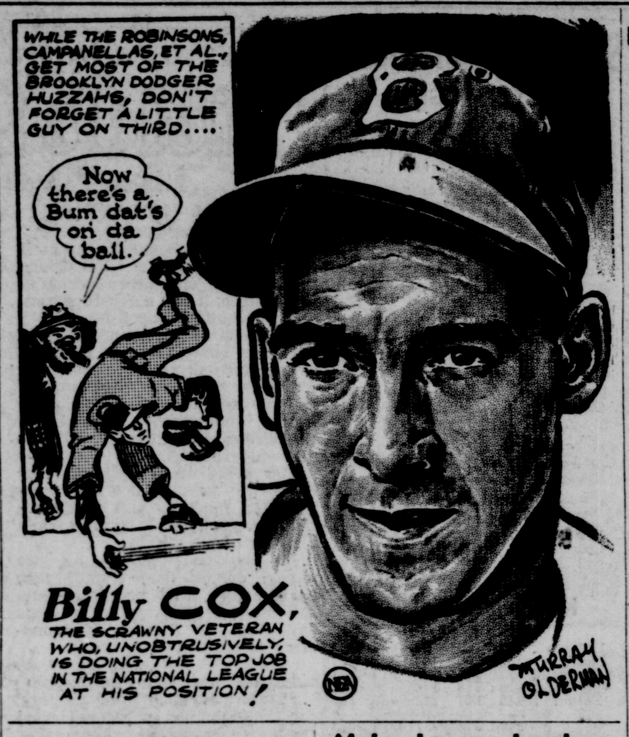
Don't let anybody tell you the Leo Durocher-Eddie Stanky battles won't be for blood. Durocher used his two New York Giant aces—Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen—to subdue Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Jansen to Rescue

Stan Musial opened the Card ninth with a double. Maglie was shaken up covering first base retiring Peanuts Lowery. When Sal walked Wally Westlake and threw one ball to Enos Slaughter, Durocher took him out. Jansen, a righthander, was a surprise choice against lefthanded swinging Enos Slaughter. But Slaughter made Leo look good by rapping into a game-ending double play.

It was Maglie's victory, his fifth straight. In 45 innings "the barber" has allowed but 22 hits and just five earned runs. He gave up only six hits to the Cards, two by Solly Hemus who had 23 hits in his last 40 times at bat.

Howie Pollet broke into the win column for the first time this year with a five-hitter as Pittsburgh broke a six-game losing slump to whip the Phillies, 5-1. The scheduled Boston-at-Chicago day game was postponed because of cold.



Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Don Mueller, Giants—drove home two runs with sixth-inning single off Rookie Williard Schmidt in 3-1 win over St. Louis.

Pitching, Johnny Rutherford, Dodgers—stopped Cincinnati with three hits in 6 2/3 relief innings for 5-4 win.

12-1 Shot Triumphs

Yonkers, May 8 (AP)—Single See, a 12-to-1 shot, scored a two-length victory over favored Major Hal in the Thornwood Class 17 early closing pace at Yonkers Raceway last night before 16,383 harness racing fans. Single See, handled by Eddie Morgan, held the lead at the quarter in 30 2/5 relinquished the top spot to Major Hal at the three eights pole and trailed to the top of the stretch when he barreled out to win going away. He returned $25.10.

UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON

Question: I have a pair of questions I would like to have you rule on. (a) Bases are loaded and two are out. Batter triples. All runners score, but in rounding second base the batter fails to touch the bag. At the time he missed second only two runners had scored. The second baseman called for the ball, stepped on second, appealed the play to the umpire, pointing out the batter didn't touch the base. The batter was called out. How many runs count?

(b) Runners are on first and third, two outs. The batter hits ground ball to third baseman, who fumbles the ball but has time to make the play at second. The runner going from first slides into second ahead of the throw, but in sliding he overslides the base and is tagged out. The runner on third scores. Does the run count?

Beans Reardon

Answers: (a) All three runs count, as the batter is not officially out until the second baseman gets the ball and steps on second. (b) Yes, the run counts as long as the man on third crosses the plate before the runner going from first is tagged out.

Braves Option Pair

Boston, May 8 (AP)—The Boston Braves have optioned second baseman Billy Reed and righthanded pitcher Bert Thiel to the Milwaukee American Association farm club on a 24-hour recall basis. Their departure cuts the Tribal squad to 27 players. Reed started 13 games for the Tribe this season and made 13 hits in 52 times at bat for a .250 average. Thiel made four relief appearances for a 1-1 record.

Three in Limelight

New Bruswick, N. J., May 8 (AP)—The stretch drive for major national collegiate lacrosse laurels this week narrowed down to a neck and neck battle among Virginia, Navy and Army. All three sport identical 6-1 records but Coach Pig Fuller's Virginia Cavaliers have the inside track since they've hurtled the toughest obstacles. Navy's surprisingly easy 10-5 romp last Saturday over Princeton—co-champ with Army last year—kept the Middies in the thick of the race.

Jackie Jensen Big Factor in 6-2 Win

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bucky Harris and his Yankee refugees are licking their chops over a six-game Washington win streak while the world champ Yankees squirm in the second division.

Ever since the "big deal" sent Jackie Jensen, Archie Wilson and Spec Shea to Washington for Irv Noren, the ex-Yanks have been hitting and pitching like crazy.

Since they traded New York flannels for Washington, Wilson has hit .526, Jensen .450 and Shea has pitched 1-0.

Jensen cashed in two more hits last night in the Senators' 6-2 romp over feeble Detroit. The veteran Sid Hudson didn't need much help behind his five-hit effort.

Tribe Tops Yanks

While the Senators continued to spree, the Yanks still were shaking their heads over the strange sight of two straight Cleveland wins at Yankee Stadium. Mike Garcia got home with a 7-2 victory over the Yanks although nicked for 12 hits.

The Indians needed that decision to stick one game behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox who crushed Chicago, 7-2, on southpaw Bill Henry's pitching and batting. The rookie backed up his five-hit work with a triple and single that drove in two runs. It was his fourth straight.

Philadelphia's Alex Kellner shoved the St. Louis Browns a little closer to their old home in the second division with a fine 1-0 triumph over Earl Harrist. Eddie Joost's double, a sacrifice and an outfield fly accounted for the only run in the first inning. Kellner gave five hits, Harrist only four.

Brooklyn headed home from its first western trip, still in possession of the National League lead, with the help of some strong arm relief pitching by Johnny Rutherford in their 5-4 triumph over Cincinnati. The righthanded rookie from St. Paul came on after lefthanded Chris Van Cuyk floundered in the third.

Don't let anybody tell you the Leo Durocher-Eddie Stanky battles won't be for blood. Durocher used his two New York Giant aces—Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen—to subdue Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Jansen to Rescue

Stan Musial opened the Card ninth with a double. Maglie was shaken up covering first base retiring Peanuts Lowery. When Sal walked Wally Westlake and threw one ball to Enos Slaughter, Durocher took him out. Jansen, a righthander, was a surprise choice against lefthanded swinging Enos Slaughter. But Slaughter made Leo look good by rapping into a game-ending double play.

It was Maglie's victory, his fifth straight. In 45 innings "the barber" has allowed but 22 hits and just five earned runs. He gave up only six hits to the Cards, two by Solly Hemus who had 23 hits in his last 40 times at bat.

Howie Pollet broke into the win column for the first time this year with a five-hitter as Pittsburgh broke a six-game losing slump to whip the Phillies, 5-1. The scheduled Boston-at-Chicago day game was postponed because of cold.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Don Mueller, Giants—drove home two runs with sixth-inning single off Rookie Williard Schmidt in 3-1 win over St. Louis.

Pitching, Johnny Rutherford, Dodgers—stopped Cincinnati with three hits in 6 2/3 relief innings for 5-4 win.

12-1 Shot Triumphs

Yonkers, May 8 (AP)—Single See, a 12-to-1 shot, scored a two-length victory over favored Major Hal in the Thornwood Class 17 early closing pace at Yonkers Raceway last night before 16,383 harness racing fans. Single See, handled by Eddie Morgan, held the lead at the quarter in 30 2/5 relinquished the top spot to Major Hal at the three eights pole and trailed to the top of the stretch when he barreled out to win going away. He returned $25.10.

Umpire

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League

Question: I have a pair of questions I would like to have you rule on. (a) Bases are loaded and two are out. Batter triples. All runners score, but in rounding second base the batter fails to touch the bag. At the time he missed second only two runners had scored. The second baseman called for the ball, stepped on second, appealed the play to the umpire, pointing out the batter didn't touch the base. The batter was called out. How many runs count?

Beans Reardon

(b) Runners are on first and third, two outs. The batter hits ground ball to third baseman, who fumbles the ball but has time to make the play at second. The runner going from first slides into second ahead of the throw, but in sliding he overslides the base and is tagged out. The runner on third scores. Does the run count?

Frank Kardell
218 Bascom St.
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Answers: (a) All three runs count, as the batter is not officially out until the second baseman gets the ball and steps on second. (b) Yes, the run counts as long as the man on third crosses the plate before the runner going from first is tagged out.

Braves Option Pair

Boston, May 8 (AP)—The Boston Braves have optioned second baseman Billy Reed and righthanded pitcher Bert Thiel to the Milwaukee American Association farm club on a 24-hour recall basis. Their departure cuts the Tribal squad to 27 players. Reed started 13 games for the Tribe this season and made 13 hits in 52 times at bat for a .250 average. Thiel made four relief appearances for a 1-1 record.

To Get Another Chance

Washington, May 8 (AP) — College students who missed the last two Selective Service qualification tests will have one more chance to take a quiz that might defer them from military service, Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, said today the test will be held May 22 and that it's open to any college student who did not take the Dec. 13 or April 24 quizzes.

Machine Pumps Blood 75 Minutes

Dallas, May 8 (AP)—A $60 heart-lung machine pumped a man's blood for 75 minutes, changing him from sickly blue to healthy pink, a surgeon announced today.

The machine gave him an extra heart and extra lung to fight a mysterious lung disease. It drew blood from a vein in his leg, purified it of carbon dioxide, gave it fresh oxygen, and pumped the blood back into an artery in his arm.

The dramatic story was reported to the American Association for Thoracic Surgery by Dr. James Helmsworth, University of Cincinnati Medical School.

He called it the first such successful use of an artificial heart-lung on human beings in this country. All the while, the man's own heart and lungs kept working.

Dies Weeks Later

The man died, however, several weeks after the experiment, Dr. B. N. Carter of the University of Cincinnati Medical School said the man had an "incurable lung disease" and that the heart pumping was done only to give him relief in his breathing.

Today's report marks a big step toward a major goal—of having machines that will let surgeons completely by-pass a patient's own heart and lungs, and operate on them while they are freed from work.

Mechanical hearts that by-pass just one side of the heart already have worked on human beings.

The machine was perfected by scientists working at the Fels Research Institute for the Study of Human Development at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, in a joint project of the University of Cincinnati, Fels Institute, and Research Foundation of Children's Hospital, Cincinnati.

Principal researchers included Dr. Helmsworth, Dr. Leland C. Clark, Jr., of Fels Institute and Antioch, who perfected an all-glass artificial lung, and Fred Hooven, electronic engineer of Dayton, Ohio.

Full Maneuvers Held

Berlin, May 8 (AP)—The Soviet Air Force in Germany sent its fighter craft on full day and night maneuvers today. The Russians notified the Air Safety Center fighters from six air fields would be aloft throughout the day and that night squadrons would be flying until well after midnight from three fields. It was the fullest schedule of flying activities posted by the Soviets since last summer. Fighter patrols ringing Berlin have gradually returned to normal activity this week after being grounded as a result of the jet attack on an Air France commercial liner, April 29.

Late Bulletin

Washington, May 8 (AP) — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told Congress today any cut in President Truman's $7,900,000,0000 foreign aid plan "would inevitably tend to curtail or retard" this nation's defense program.

The message from Eisenhower was made public by Sen. Connally (D.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The retiring head of the western defense forces did not specifically ask Congress to retain the full amount of funds Truman requested for foreign aid.

But he did say that any cut "would be heavily and seriously felt."

The committee reelected its other officers in addition to Pfeiffer. They are Miss Todd, vice-chairman; Thomas E. Stephens, secretary, and Alger B. Chapman, treasurer.

State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston served as temporary chairman of the session until Pfeiffer's reelection.

Dewey and Ives are scheduled to speak tonight at the annual fund-raising dinner of the Republican State Committee at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California will deliver the principal address. Nixon's recorded address will be broadcast nationally by the Columbia broadcasting system from 10:30 to 11 p. m. (EST).

To Get Another Chance

Washington, May 8 (AP)—College students who missed the last two Selective Service qualification tests will have one more chance to take a quiz that might defer them from military service, Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, said today the test will be held May 22 and that it's open to any college student who did not take the Dec. 13 or April 24 quizzes.

Machine Pumps Blood 75 Minutes

Dallas, May 8 (AP)—A $60 heart-lung machine pumped a man's blood for 75 minutes, changing him from sickly blue to healthy pink, a surgeon announced today.

The machine gave him an extra heart and extra lung to fight a mysterious lung disease. It drew blood from a vein in his leg, purified it of carbon dioxide, gave it fresh oxygen, and pumped the blood back into an artery in his arm.

The dramatic story was reported to the American Association for Thoracic Surgery by Dr. James Helmsworth, University of Cincinnati Medical School.

He called it the first such successful use of an artificial heart-lung on human beings in this country. All the while, the man's own heart and lungs kept working.

Dies Weeks Later

The man died, however, several weeks after the experiment, Dr. B. N. Carter of the University of Cincinnati Medical School said the man had an "incurable lung disease" and that the heart pumping was done only to give him relief in his breathing.

Today's report marks a big step toward a major goal—of having machines that will let surgeons completely by-pass a patient's own heart and lungs, and operate on them while they are freed from work.

Mechanical hearts that by-pass just one side of the heart already have worked on human beings.

The machine was perfected by scientists working at the Fels Research Institute for the Study of Human Development at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, in a joint project of the University of Cincinnati, Fels Institute, and Research Foundation of Children's Hospital, Cincinnati.

Principal researchers included Dr. Helmsworth, Dr. Leland C. Clark, Jr., of Fels Institute and Antioch, who perfected an all-glass artificial lung, and Fred Hooven, electronic engineer of Dayton, Ohio.

Full Maneuvers Held

Berlin, May 8 (AP)—The Soviet Air Force in Germany sent its fighter craft on full day and night maneuvers today. The Russians notified the Air Safety Center fighters from six air fields would be aloft throughout the day and that night squadrons would be flying until well after midnight from three fields. It was the fullest schedule of flying activities posted by the Soviets since last summer. Fighter patrols ringing Berlin have gradually returned to normal activity this week after being grounded as a result of the jet attack on an Air France commercial liner, April 29.

Late Bulletin

Washington, May 8 (AP) — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told Congress today any cut in President Truman's $7,900,000,0000 foreign aid plan "would inevitably tend to curtail or retard" this nation's defense program.

The message from Eisenhower was made public by Sen. Connally (D.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The retiring head of the western defense forces did not specifically ask Congress to retain the full amount of funds Truman requested for foreign aid.

But he did say that any cut "would be heavily and seriously felt."

Crossing to Open

Rosendale are scheduled for repaving early in June.

About a quarter of a mile of road in the northern part of the village of Saugerties will be paved and slightly less than a mile of Route 213 in Rosendale will be done at about the same time, he said.

Men have been at work during April and this month making soundings along the farmlands in the "Plank Road" area of Route 28, and Bixby said state plans are now progressing toward extending the super highway from where it now ends in the Sawkill area to Route 28 for at least a "temporary connection" with that route.

Will Let Contract

The contract is expected to be let and the work started on this section of the thruway this summer, he said. A clover-leaf type of interchange is expected to be built where the super highway joins Route 28, and as was announced earlier in the year, the course of the Esopus creek will be changed for several hundred feet near the site of the interchange.

Some confusion came of the fact that the Central Business Men's Association has selected May 28 as the date of its block party in celebration of the opening of the underpass while the state's opening date is May 29.

It was explained today, however that the merchants' group aimed at holding its party at least a day ahead of the date set for actual opening of the underpass.

Bixby indicated today, however, that it is possible that the crossing may be opened a day earlier, but the date aimed at is the 29th.

100 Renewals Are Reported by C of C

More than 100 renewal memberships have already been received by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, J. Ellis Briggs, membership committee chairman, said today.

The figure represents a 30 per cent response of those billed May 1, he said. This prompt renewal is appreciated, for it saves time and money by eliminating the necessity for follow-up notices and visits, he pointed out.

The Chamber's membership meeting will be held Monday, May 19, it has been announced by President Lawrence J. MacAvery. At that time, all members will be given opportunity to discuss the Chamber of Commerce, offer constructive criticism and make suggestions for the consideration of the various committees.

The first radio network was formed in 1926.

Tombstones Wrecked

Officer Leonard Ellsworth reported to police headquarters at 9:05 a. m., that two tombstones had been overturned in Wiltwyck cemetery. More extensive damage was reported in the same cemetery nearly a year ago when several tombstones were pushed down in the end of the cemetery near the West Shore railroad tracks.

New Metal

Palladium, one of the precious platinum metals, is one of the newest of the rare metals used in jewelry today, mostly for making settings for precious stones.

Carnival Dancer Pays Fine of $10

Fines of $10 each were paid by a carnival dancer and the operator of the show in which she appeared when they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clarence Rappleyea of the town of Ulster, state police reported today.

Barbara Nelson, 25, of Portland, Me., and Stanley Sczurek, 41, or Meriden, Conn., were arrested Tuesday night by Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Michael Lisman at the Pan-Am Field, Albany avenue extension.

Miss Nelson was charged with "exposure of person," and Sczurek was charged with violation of a section of the Penal Law involving "producing or directing an immoral exposition, or managing the same," Sgt. Reilly said.

In addition to the fines, which were paid, Justice Rappleyea sentenced each to a 60-day jail sentence, which was suspended. Both entered pleas of guilty.

Crossing to Open

Rosendale are scheduled for repaving early in June.

About a quarter of a mile of road in the northern part of the village of Saugerties will be paved and slightly less than a mile of Route 213 in Rosendale will be done at about the same time, he said.

Men have been at work during April and this month making soundings along the farmlands in the "Plank Road" area of Route 28, and Bixby said state plans are now progressing toward extending the super highway from where it now ends in the Sawkill area to Route 28 for at least a "temporary connection" with that route.

Will Let Contract

The contract is expected to be let and the work started on this section of the thruway this summer, he said. A clover-leaf type of interchange is expected to be built where the super highway joins Route 28, and as was announced earlier in the year, the course of the Esopus creek will be changed for several hundred feet near the site of the interchange.

Some confusion came of the fact that the Central Business Men's Association has selected May 28 as the date of its block party in celebration of the opening of the underpass while the state's opening date is May 29.

It was explained today, however that the merchants' group aimed at holding its party at least a day ahead of the date set for actual opening of the underpass.

Bixby indicated today, however, that it is possible that the crossing may be opened a day earlier, but the date aimed at is the 29th.

100 Renewals Are Reported by C of C

More than 100 renewal memberships have already been received by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, J. Ellis Briggs, membership committee chairman, said today.

The figure represents a 30 per cent response of those billed May 1, he said. This prompt renewal is appreciated, for it saves time and money by eliminating the necessity for follow-up notices and visits, he pointed out.

The Chamber's membership meeting will be held Monday, May 19, it has been announced by President Lawrence J. MacAvery. At that time, all members will be given opportunity to discuss the Chamber of Commerce, offer constructive criticism and make suggestions for the consideration of the various committees.

The first radio network was formed in 1926.

Tombstones Wrecked

Officer Leonard Ellsworth reported to police headquarters at 9:05 a. m., that two tombstones had been overturned in Wiltwyck cemetery. More extensive damage was reported in the same cemetery nearly a year ago when several tombstones were pushed down in the end of the cemetery near the West Shore railroad tracks.

New Metal

Carnival Dancer Pays Fine of $10

Fines of $10 each were paid by a carnival dancer and the operator of the show in which she appeared when they were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clarence Rappleyea of the town of Ulster, state police reported today.

Barbara Nelson, 25, of Portland, Me., and Stanley Sczurek, 41, or Meriden, Conn., were arrested Tuesday night by Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper Michael Lisman at the Pan-Am Field, Albany avenue extension.

Miss Nelson was charged with "exposure of person," and Sczurek was charged with violation of a section of the Penal Law involving "producing or directing an immoral exposition, or managing the same," Sgt. Reilly said.

In addition to the fines, which were paid, Justice Rappleyea sentenced each to a 60-day jail sentence, which was suspended. Both entered pleas of guilty.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 40 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 72 degrees.

The velocity of a northeast wind was about 5 miles an hour. The high temperature yesterday was 61 degrees at 12:30 p. m., and the low 45 at 12 a. m. The mean temperature was 53 degrees and the normal 60.6 degrees. The high humidity was 80 per cent at 5 a. m., and 64 at 1:30 p. m. The high wind velocity was from 50 to 55 miles an hour at 3 p. m. Sentenced to Prison

New York, May 8 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Osborne, 30, who pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter in the fatal shooting of her policeman husband, was sentenced today to five to 10 years in state prison. The defense maintained that Mrs. Osborne, mother of two children, shot her husband, Lloyd, with his service revolver last Dec. 29 after he had forced her to submit to unnatural acts.

It's obvious that the above illustration had little to do with one of our products—originally! But it does have some bearing on the subject of durability of the SIDING we have for sale!

We do have a brand of SIDING that can make your home more beautiful — that can save you money on upkeep — that will probably reduce your heating bill and increase your comfort—that can make a new home out of your time-worn mansion.

We suggest a phone call to 5656 — possibly we can then explain our SIDING offer to your advantage. As always, you are definitely not obligated to us to chat about the matter.

Dulles Predicts General's Victory

Shannon, Ireland, May 8 (AP)—John Foster Dulles predicted today that Gen Eisenhower will be elected the next president of the United States but said he himself, doesn't count on being secretary of state, Dulles indicated, however, he considers himself the "obvious" man for the job.

The Republican party foreign affairs expert was interviewed here as he flew home after weekend conferences with the general in Paris. He had refused there to say whether he would support Eisenhower's candidacy.

Nor did Dulles at the airport here come out flatly for the general, but said "there seems no doubt that General Eisenhower will be elected."

"But when it comes to secretary of state," he continued, "there are often factors which decide against the most obvious person. Sometimes the post has to be filled by one who will form a bridge between the President and certain political sections.

"I would be the last to say I am a certainty for the post of secretary of state."

Dulles was slated to get the top U. S. foreign affairs post had Thomas E. Dewey been elected president in 1948. Dewey now is a chief Eisenhower backer, but Dulles' activities as adviser to the State Department—a post to which President Truman named him and which he recently resigned—and his outspoken support of the present administration's policy in Europe has incurred the opposition of some sections of his party.
